The Tichborne Case—American Works at the Royal Academy—Browning's New Poem.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 6, 1873.

The trial of the Tichborne claimant has passed into the tedious stage during which the evidence taken at the civil trial has to be read over. Yesterday and to-day were spent in this manner, and it is calculated that it will be impossible to go over all the old evidence in less than three or four days more. The judges and jurymen are each supplied with a copy of this voluminous evidence, but it has to be read aloud all the same, and this is hard work for the Clerk of the Court, upon whom the duty devolves. The claimant, of course, has to attend in court every day, and, though he has perhaps better reasons than anybody for not desiring the trial to be brought too soon to a close, he seems to be getting rather worried. One of his friends declared the other day that great allowance would be made for him, as he had now nothing but the consciousness of his innocence to sustain him, and it would certainly appear as if this consciousness sustained him only in an imperfect manner. Letters are continually arriving addressed to the foreman of the jury, but it has been arranged that these shall all be torn up and thrown into the judges' waste-paper basket. The most exciting part of the trial will be when the members of the Orton family appear in the witness-box to claim the claimant as a dearly-beloved relative. It is understood that, on the other hand, the claimant is well provided with witnesses, who are prepared to swear that they knew Arthur Orton in Australia, and that the Arthur Orton they knew was not the claimant. Mr. Whalley, the rather crazy anti-Catholic member of Parliament, who always scents out the Pope and the Jesuits at the root of every piece of mischief, and who has strongly espoused the claimant's case, even to the extent of being fined £250 for contempt of court on his behalf, last night asked the Home Secretary whether the Crown would not furnish a claimant the same pecuniary assistance in making his defense; but the Home Secretary refused to answer the question, pointing out that it was not desirable that such matter should be brought forward in Parliament, and that the proper course was to address a formal application to the Solicitor of the Treasury on the subject.

AMERICAN PICTURES AT THE ROYAL ACADEMY.

At the Royal Academy dinner, on Saturday night, Gen. Schenck was one of the speakers, and made what has been generally considered the best speech of the night. It is true, the speaking was otherwise of a very poor sort, even Lord Granville being able to find nothing better to say than that the Academy had been trying its luck after the fashion of those ladies who exchange articles with each other, and had, in his case, got hold of nothing better than a muff. Still, even among oratory of a respectable standard, the General's speech would have come to the front as pithy and effective. He suggested that there was at best one bond of sympathy between the United States and the Royal Academy, and that was that they were both governed by a President Grant. (The President of the Academy is Sir Francis Grant.) He reminded the company that although it had thus far been mainly the business of the United States, as a young and growing country, to clear the forest, to build railways, to dig canals, and to develop in other ways their abundant natural resources, yet even from the beginning something also had been done for those fine arts which it was the object of this institution to cultivate and encourage. In Benjamin West, they had the honor to furnish an early President of this Royal Academy. In that time and after, they gave to painting the eminent names also of a Copley, a Gilbert Stuart, a Newton, a Leslie. Later still they had had a Church, a Bierstadt, a Cropsey, a Leutze. On the walls of the academy that night appeared pictures by Tilton, Benson, Boughton, and Miss Lea. In sculpture they had Powers, Clevenger, Story, Hill, Connelly, Hosmer, Rogers, and others—some of them known abroad as well as at home—whose names did not at the moment come into his mind. The pictures which Gen. Schenck alluded to are hung in very good positions, and have already attracted attention, as indeed they deserve to do. Mr. J. R. Tilton's picture is called "Kom Ombra, Upper Egypt." It represents early morning in the Spring after the subsiding of the waters of the Nile, when they are of a greenish color. It is a striking as well as a delicate piece of work. A brown temple in the foreground brings out the greenish hue of the water, and the distance is filled with a soft yellow light. The perspective, far away over the desert, seems to be interminable. Mr. E. Benson exhibits a scene entitled "The Strayed Maskers." A party of revelers, arrayed in fantastic garments, and flushed with wine and frolic—three men and three women—have come capering down a corridor. The foremost of the party has dashed a door open, and is leading the way to the chamber, when it is discovered to be the chamber of death. You catch a glimpse, at the other end, of a bier with its ghastly burden, and a mourner beside it. Through the far-off window is seen the dawning light of early morning. The reveler who has pushed the door open springs back in terror; one of the masked women, alarmed at this movement, buries her head on her companion's shoulder, while the others are evidently hesitating whether to go in or to retreat. Mr. G. H. Boughton's picture of "The Heir" represents a young fellow of some fourteen or fifteen Summers, clad in black, walking with his widowed mother through the ancestral park. It is Autumn, and the leaves are brown, and covering the ground. An old gardener salutes the pair with affectionate reverence, and holds open a gate for them. A groom follows with a pony. It would seem that the young heir is not so strong as he should be and something of a mother's solicitude mingles with the mother's pride. Miss Lea has contributed to the exhibition a couple of portraits; one of Miss Rose Hawthorne, daughter of the novelist, and the other of Mrs. H. Armitt Brown, of Philadelphia, both bright, pleasant, well-painted pictures.

MR. BROWNING'S NEW POEM.

Mr. Robert Browning's new poem is more remarkable as an exhibition of exaggerated eccentricities and confirmed bad habits than for its poetical insight. Nothing that Mr. Browning could write could be tame and commonplace, and his new work is even more brimful of ideas than anything he has yet produced. But the ideas are presented only as hints and glints of reasoning; it is doubtful whether the poet himself has got beyond the mere first flash of them, and it is certain, at least, that he has left to the reader all the trouble of getting at the sense of his hasty interjections. "Red Cotton Night-cap Country; or, Turf and Towers," is written in a kind of poetical short-hand, which the reader is expected to be able to interpret and expand to ordinary English. The explanation of the fantastic title is this: Miss Thackeray, to whom the book is dedicated, once described Normandy—

> By one slow, hither-thither stretching, fast
> subsiding into slumber sort of name,
> Symbolic of the place and people, too,
> "White Cotton Night-cap Country,"
> For they do all, dear women, young and old,
> Upon the heads of them bear notably
> This badge of soul and body in repose.

This leads Mr. Browning into a digression about night-caps—their shapes, associations, and so on. "Suppose there was a night-cap show!" he says. "How interesting to compare the night-caps of history. 'Pope's sickly self-sustainment;' 'Voltaire's imperial velvet;' 'Poor, hectic Cowper's soothing sarsnet stripe.'" The white night-cap of Normandy suggests the red night-cap of Paris, and we are shown poor Louis XVI. thrust to the front of his palace window.

> A spectacle above the howling mob
> Who tasted, as it were, with tiger smack
> The outstart, the first spurt of blood on brow;
> The Phrygian symbol, the new crown of thorns,
> The cap of freedom.

If there is to be "White Cotton Night-cap Country," why not "Red Cotton Night-cap Country," too? The white is taken to mean quiet, domestic happiness, obedience, order; and the red, revolt against law, disorder, crime, and punishment. And then the poet goes on to hint that even the white night-cap has a dangerous tendency to assume, under certain conditions, a ruddy hue, "a fierce ground beneath the surface meek." All this is prologue, and now we come to the story. "Even in quiet, peaceful, dozy Normandy, traces of Red Cotton Night-cap may be found. The poet points to Clairvaux Priory—a pleasant, luxurious mansion built out of an old priory, surrounded by charming grounds, which stands near the little Norman village where the poet and reader are supposed to be talking together. The proprietor of this fine demesne has been dead two years, and you may see his widow flitting through the gardens still, "somewhat small and darling like," a pale blonde, not exactly pretty, but > Attaining to the ends of prettiness.

> And somewhat more, suppose enough of soul

You would be tempted to say that there was not much trace of her in the midst of this peaceful scene and soft luxurious elegance. But the poet has his finger on the stain. Leonce Miranda, the deceased owner of this delightful country house, was the son of a wealthy Parisian jeweler. As a young man, he adopted the morals of the Boulevard, and understood

> The worth of womankind,
> To furnish man, provisionally, sport.

He had high aspirations, however; dim visions of a great ideal—these are the "towers" of the title. Meanwhile, he is dallying on the "turf," and flatters himself that this is only a passing relaxation, which he may safely enjoy because he despises it so much.

> An April hour amid such dainty turf.
> Means no rebellion against task imposed,
> Of journey to the distant wall one day!

He fell in, however, with one of the beauties of the demi-monde, Clara de Millefleurs, as she calls herself:

> And ere one moment flitted, fast was he > Found bondslave to the beauty evermore,
> For life, for death, for heaven, for hell, her own—
> Philosophy, bewail thy fate!

She tells him she is "high, but poorly born," but afterward confesses, when he feels her power, that she is the runaway wife of a journeyman tailor, and was born in the lowest plebian depths. The infatuated youth arranges for a separation between his Circe and her husband, and carries her off to Clairvaux Priory, where he spends several years steeped in voluptuous enjoyment. His father is dead, and he has ample revenues. After a time his mother summons him to Paris, and upbraids him for his sensuality and extravagance. An attack of fever follows the old lady's rebuke, and he returns to Clairvaux penitent and exhausted. But the sight of Clara plunges him back into his old life. His mother dies heart-broken, and remorse steals over him. His kinsmen urge him to renounce his evil genius, and atone for his sins, and not without effect. His weak, imaginative, passionate nature, prone to sensuality on one side, is also susceptible of superstitious emotions. He is horrified when he reflects on his position and its spiritual perils, and resolves to part with Clara, and forsake. He gathers up all her letters, and plunges

> Letters and coffer, and both hands to boot,
> Into the burning grate and held them there.
> "Burn, burn, and purify my past!" said he,
> Calmly, as if he felt no pain at all.
> In vain they pulled him from the torture-place;
> The strong man, with the soul of tenfold strength,
> Broke from their clutch; and there again smiled he,
> The miserable hands returned to fire—
> Constant to that ejaculation, "Burn,
> Burn, purify!" And when, combining force,
> They fairly dragged the victim out of reach
> Of further harm, he had no hands to hurt—
> Two horrible remains of right and left,
> "Whereof the bones, phalanges formerly,
> Carbonized, were still crackling with the flame."

After a terrible illness, he and Clara come together once again. He cannot live without her. They return to Clairvaux, where he lives, trying "by gifts to God and to God's poor" to stay in sin and stave off punishment. One fine Spring morning, his forty-third birth-day, he mounts to the high turret of the château and meditates on his past and future. His poor brain whirls, and a "sublime spring from the balustrade," a "flash in middle air," brings his wretched career to a tragic close. By his will he left everything to the Church, with a life interest to Clara. His relatives disputed the will on the ground of his insanity, but the court upheld it. It was the report of this trial that furnished Mr. Browning with his story. As a poem the work is defective, both from its crudeness and rudeness. It has evidently been dashed off with capricious haste. The greater part of it is only cranky prose, and there are expressions in it which are not only rough but coarse, and equally below the level of good poetry or good prose. In one place Mr. Browning pictures himself and the public having it out with each other, and his going home looking "puffy about eye and pink at nose." Surely that is neither poetry nor fun. And in another passage he speaks out in this strain:

> Out of simple came the composite'
> By culture: that the florist bedded thick
> His primrose-root in ruddle, bullock's blood,
> Ochre and devil's-dung, for aught I know,
> Until the pale and pure grew fiery-fine,
> Ruby and topaz, rightly named anew.
> This lady was no product of the plain;
> Social manure had raised a rarity.

Altogether, Mr. Browning's latest work is rather a disappointment to his admirers.

THE LORD CHAMBERLAIN AGAIN.

A regular feud has broken out between the managers of the French Theatre here and the Chamberlain in regard to the exercise of the censorship of the latter. The managers complain that whether they go back to the old pieces or take up new pieces, almost every play of merit is pronounced to be unfit for performance on the English stage. They have appealed to the public, and public sympathy is certainly on their side. Considering what sort of incidents are represented in Italian operas, it seems rather absurd to be so particular about the French plays. It should be remembered that it is only in London that the Lord Chamberlain has any authority. Beyond London there is no censorship of any kind, and managers can bring out what plays they choose. A month or two since a burlesque called the "Happy Land," in which Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Ayrton, and Mr. Lowe were personally caricatured, was peremptorily stopped by the Lord Chamberlain at the Court Theatre in London, and has since been allowed to be played only in a modified form. But last night the same piece, with all the original dialogue and the three political caricatures prohibited by the Lord Chamberlain, was produced at the Prince of Wales Theatre, Liverpool, before an immense audience, including the Mayor and several local magistrates. It is stated that the representatives of the Ministry were hailed with shouts of laughter, and the political hits received with uproarious applause, the occasion being made quite a political demonstration. No interference with the performance on the impersonations of the three Ministers was attempted.

Fall of a Gallery in Sing Sing Prison.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 18.—A report reached here to-night stating that a gallery in Sing Sing Prison fell this morning, carrying down a number of prisoners with it. One convict was killed outright and several were seriously injured. No further particulars can be received to-night.

ITALY

Parliament and the Property of the Church—Convent-Libraries—Modern Monks—The Pope and Germany.

From Own Our Correspondent.

ROME, Tuesday, April 29, 1873.

Ended the Easter vacation, Parliament has for three days been back to its work; but the discussion of the Ecclesiastical Property bill is not yet begun. According to reports now flying about, an effort is making outside of Parliament, and so far as the influence is diplomatic, outside of Italy, to have the debate put off until the time of the reunion of the Chamber in November. The reason given for asking for such an adjournment is, that in the present precarious condition of the Pope's health, a shock might be given to the feelings of the old gentleman which would seem like a cruel blow, and a disregard of the delicacy belonging to a similar situation. The reason is somewhat subtle and far-fetched; but if it is listened to, it may serve the purposes of the Ministry, who, it is believed, are not in a hurry to have this question brought forward. This is the charge which is constantly made. The Cabinet Counsellors know well enough how dear to the Pope are his monks and nuns, and how much he is provoked at the thought of the violence which is to be done to their rights. This indignation would have led to open resistance long before this were not the supporters of the monastic system and of the Papacy, in Italy, in a minority, with no means of contrary action at command. But it hardly seems probable that the discussion will be put off. Regard must be paid to public opinion, and this is strongly in favor of having an end made as soon as possible of a scheme of law which has long been under consideration here, and which in other parts of the kingdom has had practical application for six or seven years.

CONVENT LIBRARIES.

The bill for breaking up the convents, if it ever becomes a law, will put into the hands of the Government a variety of property, to be disposed of in such a way as it may be thought will conduce most to the public benefit. Of this property the libraries of several of the monasteries of Rome are of sufficient magnitude to demand the exercise of some judgment in deciding what disposition is to be finally made of them. The library of the Convent of the Minerva Church contains more than 200,000 volumes, considerably exceeding in size that of either of the public institutions of Rome. The Convent of the St. Augustin Friars has 150,000 volumes There are others ranging from 20,000 down to 5,000 and 6,000 volumes. A list of nearly a dozen of these are given. The half-dismantled Roman College is said to have about 70,000 volumes. It would not be difficult to form, out of this material, a grand central collection of nearly a half a million of volumes, and such a thing is now talked about. It is thought that as many as 25,000 duplicates would be found which would have to be disposed of as there might be opportunity. Of course among these hundreds of thousands of volumes there is the usual quantity of useless rubbish; great old folios and worm-eaten Latin tomes which nobody ever opens, monuments of dead dullness or mere sarcophagi containing the ashes of a sterile scholastic wisdom. A well-selected modern library of 20,000 volumes, for studies with practical ends in view, is probably worth more than all of them put together. The Romans need much a library like one of our best modern collections.

MODERN MONKS.

The writer of this lives in a convent, several rooms of which have been "expropriated" for his particular benefit; or rather the truth is, the six or seven Christian brothers, of which the community is composed, having more space in their house than is needed for their uses, to add something to their revenue, as they now receive little or nothing from the Pope, give up a portion of their establishment to the one who will pay best. They do not belong to the slovenly class of friars, such as the Capuchins and others, who are supposed not to wear a shirt, and are very imperfectly washed. In fact, my religious brothers are not monks at all in the strict sense of the term, as they are not under vows of absolute renunciation of the world, but are of the order of secular teachers founded by John Baptist de Salle. They are tidy in their habits, and pretty well instructed—indeed, one of them is acquainted with three or four languages. I have never known persons more obliging, or of more Christian gentleness of character. Our house is on the height on which was once the gardens of Sallust, and the windows overlook the whole of Rome. In the last century some brothers of the order came from France, obtained the site, and built the house, and their successors have enjoyed it ever since. As the foundation is French, and rather of the nature of private property, my friends do not have any fear of being turned out of doors; but no one can be very confident about what course events may take. Every traveler has observed that the members of the religious orders, in building their houses always selected the finest positions, generally upon an elevation, with good air and a prospect sweeping the whole horizon. The space inclosed was always ample, often formed into courts and gardens, with flowers and fountains and other ornaments. Some of the great establishments now put to the uses of this State are large enough to shelter a regiment of soldiers. I have known these good people for more than eighteen years. Our living together in such perfect harmony shows how possible it is for the cats and dogs of the two branches of the great Christian family to be happy and exist in good-will with each other if there is a disposition on both sides to exhibit peace-loving sympathies. In our case—on the one hand, there is respect for the foreigner, born with the liberal tendencies and free conscience of the Reformed faith, and on the other, a willingness at least to humor many little peculiarities of the old system, which the judgment cannot quite approve. On Holy Saturday, the last day of Passion Week, when the kettle of consecrated water makes the circuit of all the houses in Catholic cities, Fra Francesco, of the Capuchins, came to give the annual baptism to our house. I told Fra Paolo not to omit to send him into my part. And so, as it happened, as I was eating my pea dinner, three frati in my doorway hurried, in a very careless manner, through a great parcel of Latin formulas, scattering holy water in great profusion right and left, and blessing very nicely my carpets and bed, and the pearl-colored paper on the walls; and for this was made a voluntary contribution of one franc. Certainly no harm was done to anybody, and the most that can be said is, that "men are but children of a larger growth."

THE POPE AND GERMANY.

Germany had long been represented in Italy by the Count Brassier de Saint-Simon. At the time of his death, some time back, there were many expressions of regret on account of the loss of one who had always been a sincere friend of this country. Some time had elapsed, and no successor had been appointed to the vacant post. Meanwhile, for the reason of the rather gross language used by the Pope toward the new German Empire and the Emperor William, the diplomatic agent at the Vatican was hastily withdrawn. In such a manner, that great State, with many political and moral interests here, remained without any representative in Italy. There was just cause for dissatisfaction with the Papal circle, but no reason for other than friendly feeling toward the King, Government, and people of Italy. The considerable delay in appointing a successor to the deceased incumbent, caused some uneasiness to those who wish to hold firmly to the German alliance. This disquietude was increased by the frequent taunts of the clerical organs, to the effect that the Prince Bismarck had assumed a new position, if not adopted a new policy, toward this country. But lately all anxiety has been put to rest by the nomination of M. Keudell to the post of chief of the German Legation, near the Government of the King. At the Vatican there seems to be no present prospect for a renewal of diplomatic intercourse with the German Empire. Germany looses nothing, and in the actual state of the relations between the two parties, the Papacy has hope of little to gain. There may be no new agent of Germany sent here during what remains of the life of Pius IX.

RUSSIA'S POLICY.

The Empress of Russia has been expected here for a week past, but she still remains at her villa at Sorrento. A debt of civilities is due to the King and royal Princes of Italy for compliments paid to the Empress on her arrival in the country. Considerable interest in this Northern personage has also been felt at the Vatican. In casting their eyes round the horizon to see from what quarter help is to come, the clerical party has fixed a certain hope in Russia. That the Empress may be ready to use comforting or flattering words to the Pope, to be paid back in a soothing letter to the Catholics of Poland, we can well understand. But that schismatic Russia is to do anything to revive the drooping freshness of the rose of Jerico, (anastatica hierichuntia,) or, in other words, help to restore the temporal power, we cannot believe.

ANGELICO.

THE MODOCS.

Capt. Jack Again Eludes the Troops—Casualties in the Fight of the 10th.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 18.—A dispatch received at Yreka, dated Camp Lava Bed, South Tule Lake, May 15, stated that Mason's and Hasbrouck's command had formed a junction near Capt. Jack's last stronghold, and would in all probability hem the Modocs in.

A second dispatch, dated May 16, contradicted the former, and stated a junction had not been made, and furthermore, that the Modocs had escaped from the stronghold by three routes, both commands pursuing. Nothing had been heard from Donald McKay's Warm Spring warriors.

At latest accounts the Modocs were encamped on Snow Mountain, twenty miles south of Sorass Lake. Hasbrouck started in that direction on the 16th, and Mason's command remained in the lava bed. McKay thinks Boston Charley was killed in the last fight. It is thought Mason will find the Modocs this time. Kingsbury's command has been sent to reinforce him. Medical Director Bentley has furnished the annexed official account of the killed and wounded in the battle at Dry Lake, May 10.

KILLED.

James D. Totier, Corporal, Company B; Adolphus Fisher, private, Company B.

WOUNDED.

Louis Dunbar, scalp wound in the head.

Peter Griffin, flesh wound in the left hip.

Jesse Reeves, Corporal, fracture of the arm, which was subsequently amputated.

Patrick McGuire, fracture below the right knee; right leg amputated below the thigh.

Samuel McGlew, flesh wound in the right arm, cutting an artery.

All the above are of Company B.

Michael Maher, of Company G, flesh wound in the right hip.

All those named here belong to the First Cavalry.

Wassamucka and Lobaster, Warm Spring Indians, were killed, and Yonewiten, another scout, had his right arm fractured.

MURDERS IN NEW-ENGLAND.

Particulars of the Warren, Me., Tragedy—Fatal Shooting at Nashua, N. H.

WALDOBORO, Me., May 18.—The following are the particulars of the tragedy in Warren, on the road leading from Warren to Thomaston, at the house of Warren Mink, Friday night last, about 10 o'clock, instead of 2 o'clock, as previously telegraphed: Dr. P. R. Baker, a physician in good practice in Warren, went to the house of Mink, whose sister formerly acted in the capacity of housekeeper for Dr. Baker, while he was practicing in Thomaston. It is supposed that a criminal intimacy existed between them at that time. When Dr. Baker left Thomaston for the West some time afterward, she followed him, and made threats to different parties that if he ever had a different housekeeper she would be the death of him. He came to Warren about six months ago, and she returned soon after. He has been boarding at the hotel till this Spring, when he purchased a house and commenced housekeeping, having a Mrs. Kirk for his housekeeper. Since this time he has received several letters from Miss Mink, threatening to burn his house and kill him if he did not discharge Mrs. Kirk and employ her. He has paid no attention to these letters, but has made light of them, and as the sad end shows, placed no confidence in them.

Dr. Baker was called to see a sick child about 9 o'clock, on Friday evening, in the vicinity of the house of the Minks. Miss Mink testified that Dr. Baker came to their house between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock—she having retired. Hearing a knock at the door, she got up and let him in, and he retired with her. About 10 o'clock she came to the house of Mr. Spear, in her night clothes, crying out, "I am shot! I am shot!—Dr. Baker shot me!" Upon examination it was found that it was not so. She appeared to be in a state of frenzy, and great excitement all through the night. In the morning the neighbors found Dr. Baker's gig in Mink's yard, and his horse in the barn. The door of the house was locked. On breaking it open and proceeding into the house they found the unfortunate man lying dead on the chamber floor. He had his pants and vest on, the latter with the wrong side out, and one stocking partially on. It is supposed that after receiving his fatal wound he made an attempt to dress himself, and in doing so fell backward in the position in which he was found. The ball passed through his breast into his lung. The wound was of such a nature that the hemorrhage was all internal. The woman has been arrested.

A post-mortem examination has been made of the body, which is now in charge of the Coroner. An inquest was held Saturday afternoon, but was not finished. Important evidence has been telegraphed for, and the inquest will be resumed Monday. It is conjectured by some that a third person is implicated in the tragedy.

NASHUA, N. H., May 18.—Jesse Diehl, who says he is from York, Penn., shot and mortally wounded Robert E. Blair, a painter, of this city, at Whittemore's stables, this afternoon. Diehl claims as his birthplace Franklin County, Pennsylvania, and says he was in the Eighty-seventh Pennsylvania Regiment in the war. It is supposed rum was the cause of the shooting. Diehl has been arrested.

Shooting Affray—One Man Killed and Two Wounded.

READING, Penn., May 18.—This evening, in a riot at the White House, a Summer resort a short distance below this city, a young man named James Hahn was shot dead, David Walters was shot in the neck, and William Briner was shot in the right cheek. The two latter are not dangerously hurt. The shooting was done at close quarters by a subboss, engaged on contract on the Berks County Railroad, named John Peoples. Shortly after the occurrence, Chief of Police Cullen arrested the murderer. Peoples alleges that he committed the deed in self-defense. The revolver found on the prisoner had been reloaded with different cartridges.

WASHINGTON.

An Embarrassing Question in Indian Affairs—The Russian Mission—The White Star Mail Contract.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The Interior Department has on its hands at the present time the most difficult and embarrassing question of governmental affairs that of dealing with, controlling, and pacifying the Indian tribes, in the face of the ever-encroaching demands of railroad construction, and the never-ceasing pressure of the settlers. The field which now really presents the most difficult position of Indian affairs is that of Montana and Dakota. It is now less than five years since a solemn treaty was made with the Sioux nation, particularly the tribes represented by Red Cloud and Spotted Tail, guaranteeing them settled reservations covering portions of both Nebraska and Dakota, and the right to hunt on the Republican River in Kansas, so long as the buffalo shall range there in sufficient numbers to justify the chase. In the meantime the settlers of Nebraska are pushing up into this reservation, and meet all expostulation with the retort that the Government had no right to locate a reservation within the State limits without the consent of the State. The settlers in Kansas object to the ranging of the Indians on the Republican because they fear outrage and loss of stock. On the other hand, the Northern Pacific Railroad is crossing the Missouri into Northern Dakota, and with its progress the Sioux see that their hunting grounds disappear forever. If, therefore, the Summer passes without trouble, it will be because of the exercise of great patience and discretion on the part of the Secretary of the Interior and his Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Pertinent to this point is the result of a council recently held at Red Cloud's agency. Late in March a commission was appointed, consisting of Jno. P. Williamson, Rev. S. D. Hinman, and Agent J. W. Daniels, to sound the various bands of Teton Sioux as to their feeling in regard to the progress of the railroad. The council was held April 9, with representatives of bands of Teton Sioux numbering 400 to 500 lodges. The Indians said they were glad to hear from their Great Father, but did not want the Northern Pacific Railroad built nor white men in their country. All the white man they wanted to see was the trader, and wanted him to sell guns and ammunition. They promised, however, to take the words of the Great Father home with them, and talk to their people, and when they agreed to let the commissioners know. The commissioners say in conclusion:

Your commission does not see the way open to prosecute the work further at present. They feel no hesitancy in assuring the department that there will be no combined resistance to the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The Indians have neither ammunition nor substance to undertake any general war; neither do they manifest any such spirit in council. Small raiding parties will doubtless visit the Northern Pacific Road, and perhaps the border settlements. It is probable that a majority of the Indians with whom we consulted will remain in the vicinity of this agency, and in view of the scarcity of buffalo in the Sioux country it is believed that all Northern hostile Sioux will ultimately be compelled to come to the different agencies for subsistence.

THE RUSSIAN MISSION.

Judge Pierrepont arrived here this morning, and had an interview with the President during the day. His acceptance of the Russian mission is yet in abeyance.

FIRE.

Hood & Brothers' iron building, on F-street, in which THE TIMES Bureau is located, had a very narrow escape this morning from complete destruction by fire. About 3½ A. M. flames were discovered in the cellar of the store of N. W. Burchell, adjoining THE TIMES office; and before the fire department could get to work, a large portion of a heavy stock of fine groceries was burned up, and water seriously damaged the rest. The loss is quite heavy. THE TIMES escaped with a slight singeing and some damage done by reckless firemen.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

INTERNATIONAL REVENUE LAWS.

Under a law of Congress, the Secretary of the Treasury has caused to be prepared a digest of the International Revenue laws, with a full index, giving the law as at present in force. Ten thousand copies of the work were ordered to be printed. The printing is not yet completed.

PRIZES FOR MILITARY SADDLES.

A circular has been received from the Consul General of the United States at London, covering a circular headed "Technical Education," and addressed to army and regimental saddlers, and the trade at large generally. The Saddlers' Company of London have determined to offer the following premiums for the improvement of military saddles, namely: One of fifty, one of thirty, one of twenty, two of fifteen, and two of ten guineas. Competition is invoked from this country for the prizes offered. Competitors are to send their patterns to the hall of the company not later than 1st of October, 1873, with a distinguishing mark only, and a corresponding mark in a sealed envelope containing the name and address of the competitor. These will not be opened until the judges have made their report.

THE CIVIL SERVICE ADVISORY BOARD.

The Advisory Board of the Civil Service will meet in Washington on Wednesday next, and remain in session several days. All the members will be present with the exception of Mr. Cattell, who is now in Europe. The newly-appointed members of the board are Dorman B. Eaton, of New-York City, in place of Geo. William Curtis, resigned, and Samuel Shellabarger, of Ohio, in place of Joseph Medill, resigned, and the other members are Alexander G. Cattell, New-Jersey; Dawson A. Walker, Georgia; E. A. Elliott, of the Treasury Department; Joseph H. Blackfan, of the Post-office Department; and David C. Cox, formerly of the Interior Department, now Pension Agent. The last meeting of the board took place Feb. 24. Owing to the protracted illness and subsequent resignation of the Chairman, Mr. Curtis, and the delay consequent on the appointment and issuing of commissions to the two newly-appointed members, the meetings of the board have unavoidably been postponed till next Wednesday. As the board will be a working one, strong confidence is expressed that its deliberations will result in the improved efficiency of the civil service.

THE EUROPEAN MAIL CONTRACT.

Owing to the loss of the Atlantic and the temporary disabling of two other steamers, the White Star line has failed several times recently to comply with the terms of its contract for carrying the Saturday European mails from New-York, and the Inman Steam-ship Company having applied to the Post-office Department for the privilege of performing this mail service as formerly, Postmaster General Cresswell has notified the agents of the White Star line to appear in Washington and show cause why their contract should not be revoked on account of the inadequacy of their present service.

THE JAPAN MISSION.

The President has not concluded to appoint a successor to Mr. DeLong, and therefore he may continue to hold the mission to Japan.

THE PULPIT AND THE PRESS.

Extraordinary Scene in a Chicago Church—A Reporter Compelled to Leave.

CHICAGO, May 18.—There was an exciting scene in Trinity Episcopal Church in this city to-day. The Sunday Times, published one of its series of "Walks Among the Churches," in which it criticised Rev. Edward Sullivan, pastor, and exposed several members of his congregation. A Times reporter attended the morning service to report the sermon of Mr. Sullivan, and before the reverend gentleman began to preach, the following dialogue ensued, both pastor and reporter speaking in tones audible to the entire congregation.

Rector—Before I begin to preach I desire to ask whether the gentleman who sits before me taking notes represents the Times?

Reporter—I do, Sir.

Rector—Then I request you to desist from reporting my sermon.

Reporter—I cannot conscientiously comply with your request. I have a duty to perform and must attend to it.

The rector then said to the congregation that he had not read the article in the Times, but from the scurrilous nature of the series of its kind which preceded it, he presumed it was an incecent attack upon the congregation. Therefore he took this course. He then began his sermon again, the reporter meanwhile taking notes. The rector again ceased preaching, and addressing the reporter, said:

"I wait for you to desist."

Reporter—I cannot do so. While I am here I shall continue to perform my duty, and I will only leave here when I am compelled to do so.

Rector—Then I insist upon your withdrawal.

Reporter—If you insist upon it I must leave.

The reporter then walked out of the church, the clergyman, however, assuring him that he had no individual feeling against him, but only spoke to him in his official capacity as the representative of the Times.

The affair creates much excitement, and the clergyman's lack of dignity is severely commented upon.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, May 19—1 A. M.—The barometer has fallen, with north-easterly winds, threatening weather, and occasional rain in the North-west and upper lake region, and northward to the Ohio and Missouri Valleys; south-easterly and southerly winds, with partially cloudy and threatening weather in the Gulf and South Atlantic States and Tennessee; northerly winds, falling barometer, cool, partly cloudy weather over the lower lakes and Middle States; north-westerly winds, clear and cool weather in Canada and New-England.

PROBABILITIES.

For the Middle States and lower lake region falling barometer, north-easterly and south-easterly winds, warmer and increasing cloudy weather, with occasional rain; for Canada and New-England cool, clear weather and northerly winds; for the South Atlantic and Gulf States and Tennessee, southerly winds, falling barometer, cloudy weather, and occasional rain; for the North-west and upper lakes and thence to Missouri and Kentucky, north-easterly and northerly winds, low barometer, cloudy weather, and rain. Reports are missing from the South-west, North-west, and upper lakes.

BY MAIL AND TELEGRAPH.

The strike of the factory operatives in Rhode Island is nearly over.

The steam-ships Idaho and Spain, from Liverpool on the 7th inst., arrived at this port at an early hour this morning.

Donaldson, the aeronaut, made an ascension at Reading, Penn., Saturday evening, in a balloon made of brown paper, and landed safely.

Four stores on Meeting-street, Charleston, S. C., known as Barrett's block, were burned before daylight yesterday. Loss $40,000; partially insured.

James Shehan was found at Second-street and Columbia-avenue, Philadelphia, yesterday, severely stabbed, and John Haughey was arrested as the supposed stabber.

Albert Beery and Sylvester Bobb engaged in a fight, at Twentieth and Hamilton streets, Philadelphia, last night, and Beery was stabbed in the shoulder, and severely injured.

The Post-office in Jacksonville, Fla., and Mather's news depot adjoining, were robbed on Saturday night. The loss of the Post-office is not known; Mather's is about $5,000.

Thomas Congdon, of Rhode Island, first mate of the ship Isle of Wight, was fatally stabbed by the steward on March 31, while the ship was lying in the harbor of Rangoon.

A fire in Allegheny City, Penn., on Saturday evening, destroyed the steam tannery of Keefer & Co., and the slaughter-house of W. A. & L. Zooler and J. Bousbach. Loss, $60,000; partially insured.

The Judicial Controversy in Utah—Decoration Day.

SALT LAKE CITY, May 18.—Yesterday Judge Boreman discharged C. W. Baker on a writ of habeas corpus. Baker was sentenced by the Probate Court to a year's imprisonment. Judge Boreman ruled the same as other members of the Supreme Court of Utah, that the Probate Court had no jurisdiction in criminal cases. The conflict still goes on, notwithstanding the new appointments of judges.

A morning paper says the troops at Camp Douglas will not permit the Mormons to take part in decorating the graves of their dead comrades. The ex-Confederate soldiers have been invited to participate on decoration day.

Appointments to Military and Naval Academies.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 18.—Representative J. H. Platt, Jr., of this district, has appointed John W. Williams cadet to West Point Academy. Williams is a mulatto boy, born a slave, and is seventeen years old.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 18.—Messrs. Cain and Ransier, two of the colored Congressmen from this State, have nominated white youths who excelled in competitive examinations, to West Point cadetships. Mr. Cain has also nominated a colored youth who stood a similar test to a naval cadetship.

Laying the Corner-Stone of a Convent.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 18.—The corner-stone of the Convent of St. Joseph and the chapel, which is to be the Procathedral of the Catholics of this diocese, was laid with imposing ceremonies, by Bishop McFarland, this afternoon. The various Catholic societies of the city marched in procession to the grounds, with banners and music. About 10,000 people witnessed the ceremonies. The future grand cathedral of the diocese is to be built on grounds adjoining the convent and chapel, a very desirable situation on Farmington-avenue.

The Wheat Prospect in the Genesee Valley.

From the Rochester Democrat, May 15.

The growth the wheat attained in this section last Fall gave promise of considerable more than an average crop, and its appearance early in the Spring seemed to justify the expectation that for the breadth sown there would be a good yield. The severe weather of the past few weeks, however, seems to have frozen out all hope of even an average crop, and many fields that came out from under the snow looking green and fresh, now appear brown and barren, with scarcely a prospect of returning the seed sown. If this extend over any great section of the State, it will indeed be a local calamity; but it will not affect the market generally as in former times, when the Genesee Valley was relied on as the great wheat-growing district of the United States.

CABLE TELEGRAMS.

Changes in the French Cabinet—The Right in the Assembly Disposed to Overthrow Thiers.

PARIS, May 18.—The President has appointed M. Casimir Perier, Minister of the Interior; M. Tourton, Minister of Public Worship; M. Beranger, Minister of Public Works; and M. Waddington, Minister of Public Instruction. The other Ministers are unchanged.

It is expected that on the meeting of the Assembly M. Perier will move the postponement of all debate on questions of general policy until the territory is evacuated by the Germans.

The Messager de Paris thinks the President has come victorious out of the crisis, and that with a ministry formed of, or resting upon the Left Centre, he may expect to see calm restored.

The monarchists are dissatisfied with the appointment of M. Perier. At a meeting of the members of the Right, yesterday, speeches were made appealing to the Assembly to act with energy and rescue France from radicalism. It was resolved that the first business to come before the Assembly would be a demand for an explanation of the policy of the new Cabinet; that if this should prove unsatisfactory, then an effort will be made to force the Ministers to resign; and finally, that the party will not hesitate to overthrow President Thiers if he refuses to renounce his trimming policy.

Policy of the New French Ministry.

PARIS, May 18.—The programme of the new Ministry is to organize the Republic by the enactment of conservative laws, and wholly reject the Radical plans.

Capture of Khiva and the Khan a Prisoner.

LONDON, May 19—5½ A. M.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, dated Tiflis, May 17, says: "The Russians have taken Khiva. The Khan is a prisoner. The Russian loss was slight."

A telegram to the London Times from St. Petersburg states that the Russians reached the Khivan territory without a serious encounter.

There is talk in St. Petersburg now of the annexation of Bokhara and Khokand as well as Khiva. The Russian Press represent that Turkey is tottering with misgovernment, and predict that a time is coming when her troubles will culminate, and Russia will then be able to vindicate her interests.

The Pope—Disorderly Demonstrations Against Monasteries.

ROME, May 18.—The Pope to-day received the French Legation and a deputation of foreigners. The Pope's condition is still feeble but the indications of improvement are satisfactory.

A demonstration was made in Florence yesterday against the policy of the Ministry on the Religious Corporations bill. A large mob collected and began to act in a disorderly manner, when it was dispersed by the police. Several persons were arrested.

Sir Samuel Baker's Safety Confirmed.

LONDON, May 18.—The Foreign Office has received a dispatch from Sir Samuel Baker, dated March 15, stating that Lady Baker and himself were in good health, and reinforcements had reached him.

Promotion of Carlist Generals.

LONDON, May 18.—Gens. Ollo and Dorregaray have been promoted by Don Carlos for the victory of May 5.

The Financial Crisis in Vienna Probably Over.

VIENNA, May 18.—The indications at the close of business on the Bourse, yesterday were that the worst of the crisis was over.

Holy Saturday in Jerusalem.

The Levant Times of the 23d April says: On this day the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem is the scene of a singular spectacle. Every one has heard of the sacred fire which is supposed to come down from heaven on that day at the beckand call of an Orthodox bishop, who, for this reason, is known by the cognomen of the Fire Bishop. The Fire Bishop, in company with an Armenian bishop or arch-priest, enters the Chapel of the Holy Sepulchre with unlighted tapers, and in the course of a quarter of an hour or so they present them alight to the people through two holes made for the purpose in the wall of the chapel. The Greeks and the Armenians both believe implicitly in this miracle, and battle among themselves with equal violence for the honor of lighting their tapers at the sacred fire. The two holes are on different sides of the chapel, the one on the left for the Armenians, that on the right for the Greeks. Many of the priests hold that the whole affair is a necessity, and that if it were discontinued the people would think that hitherto they had been swindled. Others lay the flattering unction to their soul by declaring that they do not in any way attempt to perform a miracle, and that if the people mistake the appearance of the sacred fire for such, eh bien, tant pis pour eux. But among the laity of the Orthodox Church there are none that doubt the prodigy. The Church of the Holy Sepulchre is a little world in itself, for besides the numberless chapels of which it is composed, there are numerous apartments for Coptic, Greek, Armenian, and Latin monks. The church is built somewhat in the style of the Pantheon, but in other proportions, being relatively higher than it is wide. There are three tiers of galleries for privileged persons and for the Greek and Armenian women, a wise precaution in the latter case, for if they remained in the nave of the church they would be infallibly suffocated. The women in their tribunes and the men in the body of the church are all provided with a packet of thirty-three tapers to collect the sacred fire. Round the chapel itself there is a compact crowd surging to and fro like the waves of the sea. Every hand is held out with the hope of being able to catch the fire from its original source, and without the vicarious intervention of other people's tapers. The weaker go to the wall, and are trampled under foot; the stronger reach the chapel only to be beaten back by the soldiers who are stationed there apparently with the intention of making confusion worse confounded. Cries and murmurs break forth, and the tumult becomes so great that a stranger would suppose that the Holy Chapel was going to be taken by storm. At last a hymn is heard, and an assistant placed close to the hole in the chapel wall introduces his candle and withdraws it alight. The hubbub now reaches its height, every one struggling to reach the hole in the chapel wall, in order to obtain his light at first hand, but for one who succeeds there are hundreds who are pushed back or knocked down and trampled upon.

The sacred fire soon spreads, every one in the compact crowd having his bundle of candles, except the Jews, Mussulmans, and English, who, of course, form the minority. In a few moments the whole church is illuminated from floor to roof, and the Chapel of the Holy Sepulchre sparkles with the light of 10,000 tapers. Cries of joy are heard from the worshippers, and the whole scene is quickly shrouded in a thin cloud of sweet-smelling incense. A procession is soon formed, and a crowd of bishops wearing golden mitres and of priests in splendid vestments wind round the church, chanting hymns appropriate to the occasion. Setting aside the stupidity of the priests, who make that pass for a miracle which was only intended to be a symbol, the spectacle is a splendid one.

The Bordeaux Vintage.

The manager of the Foreign Vineyard Association (Limited) sends to the London Times the following extract from a letter received by him from a Bordeaux correspondent: "The crop, as well in the red as in the white wines, is very seriously compromised by the frost, and in the low grounds there has been really nothing left. The damages we consider to be far greater than those caused by the severe frost in 1861 in the month of May, only the vineyards situated on the heights have suffered less; but, unfortunately, they are not numerous. In the Medoc, which is less exposed to be injured by the frost than the other districts, the damage is more partial, but all the wines in the lower grounds are also destroyed there, and many of the growths, especially in the district of Margaux, have likewise suffered much." The manager adds that he hears from his Epernay correspondent that the entire Champagne crop is lost.

MONDAY, May 19—A. M.

The Custom-house returns of the Foreign Trade at this port for the month of April have just been rendered. We annex the figures of the month and also a summary of the Trade and Specie movements at New-York for the first ten months of the current Fiscal Year, (from July 1, 1872,) as compared with the corresponding months of the previous Fiscal year.

The Import entries at New-York for April, 1873, were as follows, compared with the corresponding month last year:

	April, 1873.	April, 1872.
Dutiable goods, direct	$14,768,739	$17,862,493
Dutiable goods, bonded	14,389,071	20,310,346
Free goods	7,639,863	3,206,479
Total	$36,597,173	$40,380,318

The amount of Goods of the previous importation withdrawn from Bonded Warehouse during the month is $11,241,194, or $2,947,877 less than went into Bond; so that the total value of Goods marketed during the month, dutiable and free, is $33,649,296, upon which the Customs paid are $9,826,491, or at an average Tariff, (including Free Goods) of 30 ₱ cent. The total value of Goods marketed in April 1872, was $37,206,299, and the average tariff thereon 37½ ₱ cent., or $13,946,999.

There was entered during the month Foreign Specie to the value of $582,253, as against $63,619 in April, last year.

The comparative value of Foreign Goods entered at the port of New-York, and of Foreign Goods actually marketed here, in the ten months of the Fiscal Years 1873 and 1872, is as follows, the Customs derived from the Goods marketed and the average Tariff rate being subjoined:

	1872-73. July 1 to April 30.	1871-72. July 1 to April 30.
Total entries	$350,448,842	$341,381,733
Total marketed	$370,260,872	$319,581,729
Customs thereon	109,573,123	130,151,190
Average tariff	30 ₱ cent.	40.80 ₱ cent.

Of the Goods marketed in the ten months, the value of $95,083,285 was in articles free of duty, including $18,456,016 Tea and Coffee entered in Bond previous to July 1, and withdrawn during that month, under the Free Tariff, for consumption. For the corresponding ten months of 1871-2, the Free Goods marketed amounted to $23,977,243.

The amount of foreign Specie, not included in the above, entered during the ten months is $5,461,463, against $2,244,387, the previous year.

The monthly Customs at this port received on Foreign (dutiable) Merchandise marketed in ten months were as follows:

July	$7,251,160	December	$6,863,157
August	10,285,157	January	10,763,624
September	12,274,127	February	12,806,436
October	10,655,391	March	12,101,275
November	7,274,180	April	9,886,491
Total New-York duties collected			$109,873,122
Miscellaneous out-port Customs			4,399,390
Total deposited at New-York			$114,272,513

The Export Clearances for New-York for the month of April were as follows:

	April, 1873.	April, 1872.
Domestic produce	$24,522,926	$18,118,266
Foreign re-exports	1,196,842	971,518
Gold and silver	2,800,840	4,969,536
Total April clearances	$28,470,608	$21,589,309

The exports of all descriptions for the ten months of the Fiscal Year compare as follows:

	1872-73. July 1 to April 30.	1871-72. July 1 to April 30.
Domestic produce	$210,456,543	$181,934,983
Foreign re-exports	8,735,800	8,155,283
Gold and silver	53,063,848	22,037,066
Total ten months	$272,256,191	$222,127,331

The above returns show that the value of Foreign Merchandise actually marketed at New-York for the ten months of the Fiscal Year is $50,569,123 greater than last year, while the value of Exports from New-York, of all descriptions, is $50,128,860. The gain in the latter is $21,026,783 in Gold and Silver, and $28,521,560 in Domestic Produce, the remainder, $580,517, in Foreign Goods re-exported.

The Import Entries in New-York, embracing Foreign Dry Goods and General Merchandise, for the past week were $7,878,263, against $10,793,826 for the corresponding week last year. The exports of Domestic Produce, other than Gold and Silver, were $5,998,713, against $3,741,806 same time in 1872. The export of Gold and Silver, $881,000, against $3,268,065 same week in 1872. The Customs, in Gold, paid into the New-York Office of the United States Treasury for the week were $2,383,290.

The Gold values of the Import Entries of Foreign Merchandise at New-York, exclusive of Foreign Specie, since July 1, 1872, are as follows, the figures being official to May 1, and since semi-official from the Custom-house:

July	$36,024,881	February	$33,736,594
August	42,892,129	March	42,022,933

Rate of Money	7 ₱ cent.	6@7 ₱ cent.	6@7 ₱ cent.

The Bank return is partially better in the reserves than on last Monday. There is a large addition to the deposits, three-fifths of which, however, come from the proceeds of new Loans. The general movement is now quite comfortable, and the effect is in favor of borrowers of Money, at 6@7 ₱ cent. on call loan and 7@9 ₱ cent. on good paper. The Foreign Exchanges have gone up to 109 ₱ cent., 60 days' London, and 110½ ₱ cent., sight, on the Continental Stock panic and consequent advance in the rates of Interest by the Bank of England. They are now close upon the points at which it would pay the Banker to ship American Gold Coin, and such shipments are looked for this week. Thus far the shipments of Gold and Silver in May are $7,000,000 less than for the same three weeks last year. Repeated efforts were made in the Gold Room to further advance the price of Gold, but the last price on Saturday was 118, as against 118⅛ at the close of the previous week. The general trade of the week was dull in Foreign Merchandise and Domestic Commission Goods, but again active in the line of Domestic Produce Exports. The Canals are now open, and a liberal Export movement is probable through the Summer months.

The Share speculation was made to sympathize with the Stock Exchange sensations from Vienna, Frankfort, &c., and, with the exception of Harlem, the foregoing table is lower by 1 to 3 ₱ cent., and in the case of Pacific Mail 6 ₱ cent. than on Saturday week. The serious break in Pacific Mail weakened the general market, aside from the Foreign news. The greatest depression was on Friday Afternoon. At the close on Saturday there was a steadier tone to speculation, although the preponderating force in the market is on the Bearish side. In the Public Funds of the United States, and in most established Railroad Mortgages, the changes of the week were unimportant.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

BANKING-HOUSE OF FISK & HATCH,
No. 5 NASSAU-ST., NEW-YORK, May 19, 1873.

☞ The present high price of Government Securities is increasing the demand for first-class Railroad Bonds; and it is not reasonable to suppose that the present difference of from TWENTY to THIRTY per cent. can be obtained for any great length of time.

We are recommending for Exchanges or for new investments—

The CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SEVEN PER CENT. MORTGAGE BONDS, interest payable January and July, principal and interest payable in gold, in New-York City.

Only $3,000,000 of these Bonds will be offered for sale at present. Price 90 and accrued interest.

They are amply secured, and a very desirable investment. The proceeds will be used in adding largely to the present equipment, and in extending the line from its present tide-water terminus at Richmond to deep water on the Chesapeake Bay, where the largest steamers in the world can load and unload alongside the cars.

Also, the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO SIX PER CENT. BONDS, interest payable May and November; these bonds are issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000. Price 88 and accrued interest. The road, 420 miles in length, is now completed, and the business offering is very large, and increasing daily.

We have just published a pamphlet giving a full description of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and its advantages, and particular information concerning the agricultural, mineral and mechanical resources, the remarkable coal and iron deposits, and the opportunities for settlement, investment, and the employment of capital and labor in various industries along its route, copies of which may be had, free of charge, upon application in person or by mail.

Also, the WESTERN PACIFIC SIX PER CENTS at the market price, which is to-day 95, flat. These bonds are of $1,000 each; interest payable January and July. This road having been consolidated with the great CENTRAL PACIFIC, the payment of its bonds, principal and interest, is assumed by them.

We continue to deal in Government and Central Pacific Bonds, receive deposits on which we allow interest, make collections, execute orders at the Stock Exchange for cash, and conduct a general banking business.

FISK & HATCH.

INVESTMENT BONDS.

The NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD 7.30 FIRST MORTGAGE GOLD BONDS, which we recommend as a profitable and well-secured investment, bear 7 3-10 per cent. gold interest, and have the following elements of security, viz.:

1. They are the obligation of a strong corporation.

2. They are a first mortgage on the road, its equipments, rights and franchises.

3. They are a first lien on its net earnings.

4. There is pledged, in addition, for the payment of principal and interest, a land grant of 12,800 acres per mile through the States, and 25,600 acres per mile through the Territories traversed. The Company is already entitled to nearly 10,000,000 acres of its grant, and its land sales thus far have realized $5.66 per acre.

With nearly 500 miles of the road completed and in operation, the earnings for 1873 will be large.

All marketable stocks and bonds are received in exchange for Northern Pacifics on most favorable terms.

COFFEE—Firm, but quiet; 3,203 bags Rio, by the Lemoyne, sold on private terms.

COTTON—Has been dull and nominally unchanged for early delivery; sales, 5?2 bales, including 321 bales to shippers, 160 bales to spinners, and 41 bales to speculators. A very limited business has been noted for forward delivery on an irregular basis as to values. Sales have been reported since our last of 5,750 bales, (of which 1,900 bales last evening and 3,850 bales to-day,) basis of Low Middling, with May contracts closing at 18⅝c., June at 18⅞c., July at 18⅞c., August at 18¾c., September at 17⅛c., October at 17⅛c. The receipts at this port to-day were 3,296 bales, including 1,936 bales from New-Orleans, 1,360 bales per rail.... The receipts at the shipping ports to-day were 5,091 bales.... The week's exports hence have been 13,898 bales; also, 38 bales Sea Island.

DRUGS AND DYES—Have been attracting rather more attention at somewhat steadier rates.

DYEWOODS—Have been held firmly, on lighter offerings, but have been inactive.

FERTILIZERS—The demand has been fair for lots wanted for prompt distribution. Prices of the leading kinds of stock have been well supported. The offerings have been comparatively moderate.

FISH—There has been a fairly active business noted in the leading kinds of stock, on a firm basis as to values. Dry Cod quoted at $6 50@$6 75 ₱ cwt.; No. 1 Mackerel at $17@$22; No. 2 at $15@$16 50; No. 3 at $9@$10 ₱ bbl.; Pickled Herring at $3 50@$6, chiefly at $5@$5 50; Smoked Herring at 22c.@25c., for Scale, and 15c.@18c. for No. 1 ₱ box.

FLOUR AND MEAL—There has been a good demand noted again to-day for really desirable lots of State and Western Flour, but the reduced offerings and the advanced prices claimed operated against free dealings. Shipping and medium trade Extras were in most request; on the latter, some holders were enabled to realize a further improvement of 10c.@15c. ₱ bbl. Sales have been reported since our last of 16,950 bbls., all told, including inferior to Superfine State and Western at $6@$6 50, chiefly $6 10@$6.35; inferior to very good Extra State, $7@$7 50, chiefly at $7 25@$7 45; good to very fancy do., $7 50@$8 35; poor to good shipping Extra Western at $7@$7 45; chiefly at $7 25@$7 35; very poor to good shipping brands round-hoop Ohio, $7 10@$7 50 ₱ bbl.; trade and family Extras at proportionate rates.... Southern Flour has been quoted 10c.@15c. ₱ bbl. higher, on a lighter offering and moderate inquiry; sales, 1,800 bbls., in lots.... Rye Flour firm; 270 bbls. sold.... Corn-meal quiet, but held with confidence; 375 bbls. sold, chiefly Yellow Western, at $3 30@$3 35 ₱ bbl.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been comparatively quiet for prompt delivery, the scant offerings and very firm views of sellers preventing free transactions. The export inquiry was less urgent. Winter Wheat has been partially neglected and nominally unaltered as to values. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 62,000 bushels at $1 65 for ordinary No. 2 Chicago Spring, car lots; $1 60 for Nos. 2 and 3 Spring, mixed; $1 53@$1 59 for ordinary to choice No. 3 Spring, chiefly at $1 56@$1 57 for good to prime samples; $1 38@$1 45 for rejected Spring; $2 for a small lot of mixed Winter, in store. For forward delivery, a moderate demand has been noted at about previous figures, with holders, however, generally asking 1c.@2c. a bushel above the views of buyers, checking business. Sales have been reported of 32,000 bushels No. 1 Milwaukee Spring, first half of June delivery at $1 71.... New Corn has been quoted decidedly lower, on more urgent offerings and less call for supplies especially from export buyers. Old Corn scarce, and held with firmness, but inactive. Sales have been reported since our last of 78,500 bushels at 63c.@64c. for ordinary to very choice new mixed Western, closing at 63c. for average samples; 62c.@63½c. for damp do.; 64c.@65½c. for new Yellow Western; 70c.@73c. for White do.; and (nominally) 67½c.@68c. for prime to choice old mixed Western, in store, but these figures were about 1c. a bushel above the views of purchasers. For forward delivery some bids of 65c. were reported early in the day for prime mixed Western, June option, but no sales tran-pired, and the market at the close was less firm.... Rye and Malt unaltered.... Of Barley, 5,000 bushels Canada West sold at $1 12½c., delivered; market steady.... Oats have been in moderate request at about steady rates; sales, 51,000 bushels at 50c.@52½c. for new mixed Western; 48½c.@51c. for new black do.; 53c.@57c. for new white do.; and 55c. for old mixed Western, in store.... Feed, Hay, and Straw essentially as last quoted.... The week's export clearances hence for European ports have been: 4,612 bbls. Flour, 248,788 bushels Wheat, 281,015 bushels Corn and 7,844 bushels Rye.

HIDES—There has been a good inquiry noted for Wet-salted at firm prices for Texas, and other domestic Steer stock, but at lower figures for Cow. Dry Hides in rather slack request, yet steady. The week's receipts have been 39,043 Hides; sales, 45,850 Hides and 96 bales do., the latter including, according to Messrs. Hull & Co., 1,500 Dry Buenos Ayres, 22½ lbs.; 2,800 Dry Corrientes, 22½ lbs., sent to tan on importer's account; 700 Dry B. A. and E. R. Seconds, 22½ lbs., at 20c.@21c., gold, as they run; 830 Dry Entre Rios, 20½ lbs., at 25½c., gold, selected; 300 Dry Rio Grande Seconds, 20½ lbs., on private terms; 3,000 Dry Montevideo, 22 lbs., at 25½c., gold, 4 months, selected; 1,590 Dry Rio Grande Kips, 12 lbs., at 32½c., currency, 4 months, selected; 3,459 Dry Truxillo, 16 lbs., at 21½c., gold, 60 days, selected; 1,600 Dry Vera Cruz, &c., 18@20 lbs., at 20c., gold, as they run; 2,200 Dry Central American, 18@22 lbs., at 20½c. @21c., gold, as they run; 1,870 Dry Bogota, &c., 20@25 lbs.; 1,000 Dry San Domingo, 16@18 lbs., on private terms; 10,800 Dry Mexican and Texas, 22@24 lbs., (omitted in our last;) 3,500 Dry San Antonio, 23 lbs., at 21½c.; 1,000 Dry Indianola, 24 lbs., at 20½c., currency, 4 months, selected; 1,500 Dry Red River, 20 lbs.; 4,000 Dry Texas, 21@23 lbs.; 200 Dry Matamoras, 24 lbs.; 500 Dry Southern, 18 lbs.; 2,?0 Wet-salted California, 45 lbs.; 200 Wet-salted Honduras, 45 lbs.; 1,300 Wet-salted Texas, 55 lbs., on private terms; 1,200 Wet-salted City Slaughter Steers, 72 lbs., at 11½c., currency, selected; 71 bales Calcutta Buffalo; 25 bales Calcutta Cows, on private terms. The stock on hand is 229,800 Hides and 335 bales; (same time last year 96,500 Hides and 250 bales.)

LEATHER—Trade has been rather more satisfactory, manufacturers having been purchasing supplies with some show of freedom. Hemlock tannages have been quoted about steady, with no accumulation of stock. Overweights have been in reduced supply. A fair offering of Oak tannages enabled buyers to provide for urgent wants at uniform figures. There has been a moderate call noted for Union crop, in a jobbing way, within the previous range. Upper in the rough is in rather meagre supply, and held firmly. In harness stock the dealings have been light, with values of fine finished goods quoted about as before, but with the poorer qualities ruling low and irregular.

MOLASSES—Steady but quiet; 390 hhds. and 3 tcs. Cuba, for boiling, sold at 33c.

NAVAL STORES—Dull, as a rule, prices favoring buyers decidedly. Sales reported of 1,250 bbls. good Strained Resin at $3 25, though common to good quoted at the close at $3 10@$3 15, ₱ 280 lbs.; also, 25 bbls. Spirits Turpentine, from dock, at 47½c.; and 30 bbls. do., jobbed from store, at 51c.@52c. ₱ gallon.

NAILS—Have been in moderate demand at former figures.

OIL-CAKE—Firm and in request. Exports this week, 7,644 bags.

PETROLEUM—Generally quiet and weak. Crude in bulk quoted at 8½c., on sales of 560 bbls.... Refined dull here; quoted for early delivery at 19½c.@19½c., and last half of June at 19½c. Sales 1,000 bbls., first half of June, at 19½c.... At Philadelphia sales were reported of 3,000 bbls., May option, at 19c., and 3,000 bbls., first half of June, at 19c. ₱ gallon.... Refined in cases and Naphtha unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been depressed and lower, on a restricted business; sales 285 bbls. new Western Mess, in lots, at $18; 50 bbls. extra heavy do. at $18 12½; 65 bbls. Pennsylvania do. at $17 50. And for forward delivery, 250 bbls. new Western Mess, June option, at $17 50 ₱ bbl.... Dressed Hogs quiet at 7c.@7¼c. for City.... Cut-meats slow of sale and irregular; 150 boxes Dry-salted Shoulders changed hands at 7c.@7⅛c.; 190 tcs. Pickled Hams, 14@14½ lbs., at 12c.; 10 tcs. Bagged Hams on private terms, quoted at 13c.@14c.; 20,000 lbs. Bellies at 9¾c.@10½c., the former rate for very light averages; and sundry other lots of Bulk Meats at proportionate rates.... Bacon lower and very moderately inquired for; sales, 150 boxes Cumberlands on private terms; 200 boxes Long Clear at 9c.; 150 boxes Short Rib at 9⅛c., with Short Clear quoted at 9⅜c.@9½c. Also, 40,000 lbs. Short Rib, in bulk, at Chicago, on private terms.... Lard in less request for early delivery, and rather easier as to price; sales 750 tcs. choice Western Steam at 9 7-16c. for shipment, with contract stock quoted weak at 9½c.; 125 tcs. City at 8¾c.@8⅞c.... For forward delivery, a fair business has been reported, since our last, embracing sales of 1,000 tcs. Western Steam, May option, at 9½c., offering at this rate at the close; 4,750 tcs. do. June, at 9½c.@9 13-32c.; and 500 tcs. do. July, at 9⅝c.... Beef, Butter, and Cheese, about as last noted.... The week's exports hence for European ports have been 2,144 bbls. Pork, 1,318 tcs. Lard, 6,579 boxes Bacon, and 15,106 boxes Cheese.

SKINS—Deer declined about 2½c.@5c. ₱ lb. on more liberal offerings, leading to freer sales, including 27,000 lbs. Porto Cabello and Laguayra, 14,000 lbs. Truxillo, 13,000 lbs. Sisal, 3,500 lbs. Para, 1,500 lbs. Vera Cruz, and 9,000 lbs. Matamoras; receipts, 50 bales Sisal, do., 10 bales Buenos Ayres, 65 bales Para, 7 bales Truxillo, and 13 bales Texas, &c. Goat quiet, but steady; sales, 350 bales Mexican and 75 bales Matamoras; receipts, 13 bales Vera Cruz, 279 bales Curacoa, 41 bales Santa Martha, and 10 bales Buenos Ayres.

SOAP—There has been a fair jobbing demand noted, mostly for domestic makes, at steady prices. Castile quoted at 9¾c.@10c.; Colgate's Pale, 7¾c.; Family, 8¼c., and No. 1 at 6¼c. ₱ lb.

SPICES—A moderate inquiry prevails for the leading kinds in a jobbing form, with Mace quoted at from $1 17½@$1 25; No. 1 Nutmegs at 95c.; Cassia at 26c.@26½c.; Cloves at 26½c.@27c.; East India Pepper at 19c.@20c.; Pimento at 11¼c.@11½c.; Ginger at 10c.@11½c., gold, ₱ lb. Market otherwise tame.

SUGARS—Raw quoted lower and tame; 400 hhds. refining sold, part at 8 1-16c. for Porto Rico, and 400 boxes. Centrifugal at 9¼c. Fair refining closed at 7¾c.@7⅞c.; good do. at 8c.@8⅛c., and prime do. at 8¼c. Nothing really new in Refined Sugar.

TALLOW—Firm and wanted; 500,000 lbs. sold, in lots, at from 8 13-16c.@9 1-16c. Of Stearine, 75 tcs. sold at 9c.@9¾c., the latter rate for prime.... The week's exports hence of Tallow for European ports have been 1,221 pkgs.

WHISKY—Sold to the extent of 200 bbls., in lots, at 93½c.; market steady.

WOOL—The business in this line since our last has been on a moderate scale. The offerings of most kinds, though not large in amount, have been sufficiently free to meet the restricted requirements of buyers, and in several instances to give the latter the advantage as to values, though in this respect the changes have not been important. Manufacturers have not been willing to purchase more than enough stock to provide for immediate wants. The trade call has been comparatively light. The week's transactions have embraced equal to 155,000 lbs. domestic Fleece, at from 45c.@54c., mainly at 47c.@50c.; 70,000 lbs. domestic Pulled, chiefly Super and Extra at 43c.@47c.; 35,000 lbs. scoured stock, part at 60c.@62½c.; 5,000 lbs. tubbed on private terms; 30,000 lbs. unwashed at 28c.@32c.; 125,000 lbs. Colorado at 18c.@28c.; 45,000 lbs. Texas at 18c.@28c.; 5,500 lbs. Oregon on private terms; 97,000 lbs. California Spring at 23c.@33c., the latter an extreme; 590 bales and 110,000 lbs. California Fall at 17c.@22½c.; 10,000 lbs. Montevideo Pulled at 57c.; 665 bales Montevideo, 110 bales Australian, and 30 bales New-Zealand on private terms; 96 bales Mestesa, part at 31c., and 350 bales Cape at 32c.@35c. ₱ lb. Two unimportant auction sales are announced for the coming week.... From Philadelphia the report is of a very moderate demand, at about former figures; X to XX Fleece sold at 50c.@52c.@55c., chiefly at 52½c.@53c.; Super Pulled at 38c.@45½c.; new Ohio Fleece, medium, at 50c.; Combing at 40c.@55c.; Cape at 32c. Total sales, 443,000 lbs., all kinds. Receipts, 369 bales.... From Boston the advices are of a fairly active movement, on a comparatively firm basis for desirable grades. The week's sales have been 350,000 lbs. domestic and 460,000 lbs. Included in the sales were domestic Fleece, X to XX, at 49c.@54c.; domestic Pulled, Super and Extra, at 40c.@52c.; Combing at 42½c.@60c.; California Fall at 17c.@25c.; do. Spring at 25c.@32c.; Cape at 32c.@33c.; Donskoi at 40c.

A Boundary Difficulty.

There is difficulty regarding the boundary line of Queens and Suffolk Counties, dividing the towns of Oyster Bay and Huntington, Long Island. The line was first surveyed and located in the year 1734, but it appears that no definite monuments or land-marks were established on the line running from Cold Spring Harbor northwardly through the rivers, creeks, harbor, and bay, to Long Island Sound. In 1859 Hon. Charles A. Floyd, on behalf of Suffolk, and Hon. David R. Floyd Jones, on behalf of Queens, were appointed commissioners to definitely fix the boundary, and they did so from the Great South Bay across to Cold Spring Harbor, but it seems that they, too, failed to extend the lines from the latter place northward to the Sound—hence disputes have arisen as to where it should be. The matter was considered by the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors last week, and at the next meeting, on the 27th inst., they will vote upon a proposition to form another joint commission to finish the work only partly done by the former one.

MACKINAW AND MARQUETTE RAILROAD.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF STATE SWAMP LANDS, LANSING, Mich., April 30, 1873.

Notice of the letting of the contract for the construction of the Mackinaw and Marquette Railroad, under the provisions of the following act:

AN ACT—To authorize and empower the Board of Control of State Swamp Lands to make an appropriation of State Swamp Lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from the Straits of Mackinaw to Marquette Harbor, on Lake Superior.

SECTION 1. The People of the State of Michigan enact, That to secure the early construction of a railroad from the Straits of Mackinaw to Marquette Harbor, on Lake Superior, and for the purpose of drainage and reclamation, the Board of Control of State Swamp Lands are authorized and empowered, if by them deemed expedient, and to the best interests of the State, and to the section of country to be penetrated by said railroad, to appropriate not to exceed ten sections of State swamp lands per mile to any railroad company that shall construct and complete such railroad in running order, on or before Dec. 31, 1875.

SEC. 2. To further the construction of said railroad, and for the better protection of the interest of the State, the Board of Control shall have full power and authority over said lands, the reservations necessary, and the limitations and privileges requisite in the application of such lands to such purpose: Provided, said lands shall be selected from the vacant and unreserved State swamp lands in the Counties of Mackinaw, Chippewa, and Schoolcraft, and not to exceed one hundred sections in the County of Marquette: And provided, There shall be no extension of the time for the completion of said railroad beyond the date named in this act: And provided further, That said appropriated lands shall become taxable as soon and as fast as they are earned by the company constructing said railroad.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of said Board of Control to give thirty days' public notice of the letting of the contract for the construction of said railroad under the provisions of this act, and if upon the day named in such notice, which shall be on or before the 1st day of July, A. D. 1873, two or more responsible railroad companies shall compete for the construction of said railroad, the board may, if they shall deem it for the best interest of the State, let the contract to that responsible company which will enter into bonds to the State of Michigan satisfactory to said Board of Control, conditioned for the completion of said railroad for the least number of acres of said lands.

SEC. 4. This act shall take immediate effect.

Approved March 21, 1873.

At a meeting of the Board of Control of State Swamp Lands, on the 30th day of April, A. D. 1873, and in pursuance of the above recited act, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of Control of the State Swamp Lands deem it expedient and to the best interests of the State, and to the section of country to be penetrated by a railroad from Mackinaw to Marquette, to advertise for proposals to build a railroad connecting such points under the provisions of "An act to authorize and empower the Board of Control of State Lands to make an appropriation of State swamp lands to aid in the construction of a railroad from the Straits of Mackinaw to Marquette Harbor, on Lake Superior," approved March 21 1873. Now, therefore, by virtue of the power conferred by said act, and in pursuance of said resolution, notice is hereby given, that sealed proposals for the contract for the construction of said railroad under the provisions of the above recited act, will be received at the office of said Board of Control, in the City of Lansing, Mich., until 12 o'clock noon, on Tuesday the 24th day of June, A. D. 1873; such proposals will be marked "Proposals for contract for constructing Mackinaw and Marquette Railroad, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Control of State Swamp Lands, and accompanied with a bond in the sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars, conditioned that if such proposal be accepted by the Board of Control such company will enter into contract to construct said railroad, and execute the bond required in accordance with the conditions hereinafter specified; and if upon such day propositions from two or more responsible railroad companies shall be received, the said Board of Control will, if it shall deem it for the best interests of the State, let the contract to that responsible railroad company, organized under the laws of this State that shall enter into a bond as hereinafter designated and required; which contract, if so let, shall be let to the company that shall construct and complete a first-class railroad, (commencing at a point about one mile east or west of Pt. LeBarbe, on the Straits of Mackinaw, from thence northerly through township forty-four, north of range five, west; thence westerly by the most eligible route to Marquette Harbor, on Lake Superior, for the least number of acres of land,) of a gauge four feet eight and one-half inches in width, with proper ditches and culverts, and with the further agreements, viz.:

First—That the lands shall be selected and located by the company to whom the contract shall be awarded, and a list of the selection shall be filed with the commissioner of the State Land Office on or before the 1st day of July, A. D. 1874.

Second—That such company shall locate the line of its railroad, and make complete maps of said line, and file copies thereof in the office of the Secretary of State of Michigan on or before the 1st day of May, A. D. 1874.

Third—That such company shall make the selections of lands within the limits and counties prescribed in the act hereinbefore referred to, and shall have no claim or recourse upon or against the State of Michigan for any deficiency there may be in the quantity of lands in said counties.

Fourth—Before such railroad company shall be entitled to any of said lands, the road shall be completed in every respect and accepted by the Governor of the State of Michigan.

Fifth—That such road shall be completed within the time prescribed in the above recited act.

Sixth—And should such company fail to make their survey and maps, or fail to make the selections of lands, and file the lists thereof at the time and place, and in the manner hereinbefore required, or fail to construct their entire line of road within the time and manner specified, then, and in such case the said Board of Control shall, and do hereby reserve the right and power to declare said lands that may be selected by said railroad company forfeited to the State.

Seventh—That said railroad company shall make, execute, and deliver a bond to the State of Michigan satisfactory to said Board of Control conditioned for the completion of said railroad, on or before the 31st day of December, A. D. 1875, and such contract and bond shall be executed by said railroad company within twenty days after notice of such award.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or change the condition of the contract before the execution of the same.

JOHN J. BAGLEY, Chairman.

DANIEL STRIKER, Secretary.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT pursuant to section 3, chapter 335, of the Laws of 1873, proposals for publishing and distributing the City Record for one year, in accordance with the specifications filed in the office of the Mayor of the City of New-York, in the City Hall in said City, will be received at said office until Tuesday, June 3, prox., at 12 o'clock noon, at which hour the bids will be opened and read, and the award of the contract made as soon thereafter as practicable.

Contracts will be awarded, after the bids from all the posts have been received at this office, to the lowest responsible bidder for each post and each kind of supply.

The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Firms bidding for supplies will please state the full name of each member.

Payment for supplies will be made monthly, if in funds, or as soon thereafter as funds for the purpose are received.

Blank proposals and any additional information can be had in person or by letter, on application to the quartermasters at the various posts or at this office.

JAMES A. EKIN,
Deputy Quartermaster General United States Army,
Chief Quartermaster Department of the South.

SEALED PROPOSALS WILL BE received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education, corner of Grand and Elm sts., (and nowhere else,) until Saturday, May 31, 1873, at 4 o'clock P. M., for supplying the coal and wood required for the public schools in this City for the ensuing year.

Say nine thousand (9,000) tons of coal, more or less, and two thousand five hundred cords of oak, and one thousand (1,000) cords of pine wood, more or less. The coal must be of the best quality of white ash, furnace, egg, stove, and nut sizes, in good order, two thousand two hundred and forty (2,240) pounds to the ton, and must be delivered in the bins of the several school buildings at such times and in such quantities as required by the Committee on Supplies.

The proposals must state the mines from which it is proposed to supply the coal, (to be furnished from the mines named if accepted,) and must state the price per ton of two thousand two hundred and forty (2,240) pounds.

The quantity of the various sizes of coal required will be about as follows, viz.: Seven thousand one hundred (7,100) tons of furnace size, one thousand (1,000) tons of stove size, seven hundred (700) tons of egg size, and two hundred (200) tons of nut size.

The oak wood must be of the best quality, the stick not less than three (3) feet long and not less than three (3) inches in diameter.

The pine wood must be of the best quality, and not less than three (3) feet six (6) inches long. The proposal must state the price per cord of one hundred and twenty-eight cubic feet, solid measure, for both oak and pine wood, and also the price per cut for sawing and splitting per load, the quantity of oak wood to be split only as required by the Committee on Supplies. The wood will be inspected and measured under the supervision of the Inspector of Fuel of the Board of Education, and must be delivered at the schools as follows: Two thirds of the quantity required from the 15th of July to the 15th of September, and the remainder as required by the Committee on Supplies; said wood, both oak and pine, must be delivered sawed, and when required, split, and must be piled in the yards, cellars, vaults, or bins of the school buildings, as may be designated by the proper authority. The contracts for supplying said coal and wood to be binding until the 1st day of June, 1874. Two sureties for the faithful performance of the contract will be required, and each proposal must be accompanied by the signatures and residences of the proposed sureties. No compensation will be allowed for delivering said coal and wood at any of the schools, nor putting and piling the same in the yards, cellars, vaults, or bins of said schools.

Proposals must be directed to the Committee on Supplies of the Board of Education, and should be indorsed, "Proposals for Coal" or "Proposals for Wood," as the case may be.

The Committee reserve the right to reject any or all the proposals received.

FINANCIAL.

FOR INVESTMENT.

It is universally conceded that carefully-selected FIRST MORTGAGE RAILROAD BONDS are not only SAFE, but are the MOST DESIRABLE SECURITIES for investment purposes. It is also an established fact that there are fewer instances of default in the Railroad than in any other of the great interests of the country.

These facts have been accepted as applying to the securities of Railroads generally, but they apply with greatly increased force in cases where the Roads have superior advantages in location, management and connections.

The Indianapolis, Bloomington, and Western Railway possesses all the advantages here named, and has, in addition, a very large business already created and assured to it. The BONDS of this road now offered are GOLD, SEVEN PER CENT., CONVERTIBLE, are FULLY SECURED by a FIRST MORTGAGE on an extension of 217 miles, and are a liability of the entire line of 410 miles, of which four-fifths are completed.

The geographical position of the road is remarkably favorable. Commencing at Indianapolis its direction is west, and diverging at Champaign it has terminal points at Peoria on the Illinois River and on the Mississippi opposite Keokuk.

Net earnings of the division from Indianapolis to Pekin and Peoria are large, and have been for a considerable period greater than the amount required for interest on all bonds issued by the company. Regular trains are running on more than 100 miles of the extension, and total receipts of the road for this year must be very satisfactory to all holders of its securities.

The Earnings in 1872 were $1,359,690 55, an increase of $395,000 over 1871. It is expected they will reach $2,000,000 during the present year.

These Bonds have an INTRINSIC VALUE exceeding the present low price of 90 and INTEREST, and holders will find a POSITIVE ADVANTAGE in an early increase in the value of their investment. Coupons January and July 1.

All NEGOTIABLE securities RECEIVED in exchange at best MARKET RATES.

Pamphlets, maps, and circulars furnished on application.

SAFE AND PROFITABLE INVESTMENT.

The Bonds of this Company, secured on the Minnesota Division, marketed by us in the past have now taken a position as a favorite and established investment security, and are dealt in daily at the Stock Exchange.

The earnings of the Minnesota Division
In 1871 were $571,010 27
In 1872 ....995,959 68
In 1873, estimated 1,500,000 00

The Bonds now offered are secured by a mortgage upon the Milwaukee Division, from Cedar Rapids to Postville, on the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, a distance of 110 miles.

As an independent enterprise, this line would be equally remunerative with the Minnesota Division; but, in addition to their being a mortgage on the Milwaukee Line, these Bonds are a lien also upon the Minnesota Division, and are thus even a better security than the Bonds sold in the past.

A small portion only of the entire mortgage remains unsold, and as soon as they are closed out, these Bonds and those of the Milwaukee Division must advance to or above par, the price attained by other Bonds of similar merit.

Parties exchanging Government Bonds at present exceptionally high prices will realize an increase of their principal of about one-third, and of income about one-half.

All marketable securities taken in exchange at current prices, without commission.

SALE BY AUCTION OF THE NEW-ORLEANS, MOBILE, AND TEXAS RAILROAD—Circuit Court of the United States, District of Louisiana—Henry J. Gardner and Peter Butler vs. New-Orleans, Mobile, and Texas Railroad Company—No. 6,958.—Pursuant to a decree rendered in the Circuit Court aforesaid, at the term of said court commencing the first Monday of November last and under the authority of said court, and to carry into execution the terms of a deed of trust or mortgage executed by the said corporation, bearing date on the 8th of March, A. D. 1869, to the plaintiffs in said cause and filed in the proceedings of the suit aforesaid to secure by the terms of the same four thousand bonds of one thousand dollars each, of a uniform series, with coupons attached of forty dollars each, payable the first day of April and of October of each year, and upon which mortgage or deed there is due the sum of four million three hundred and twenty thousand dollars, as declared in the decree in said cause: The undersigned trustees, under the supervision and direction of the undersigned masters appointed in the decree, will, on Friday, the sixth day of June, 1873, in the City of New-Orleans, in front of the post-office of the said city, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and 3 o'clock P. M., proceed to sell the following property described in the said mortgage or deed in four separate parcels, as hereinafter described, at public auction for cash to the highest bidder: First, all that portion of the main line of the railroad of the said New-Orleans Mobile and Texas Railroad Company, located or to be located between the cities of New-Orleans and Mobile, and within the said cities and upon the lands, buildings, machinery, rolling stock, and other real and personal property, and the franchises, tolls, rights, and privileges pertaining and exclusively belonging separately used with the same and branches and to said portion of the main line of the said railroad, and roads connecting thereunto, including all the depots, station-houses, engine-houses, car-houses, freight-houses, store-houses, wharves, warehouses, wood-houses, machine shops, repair shops, business offices, and other shops, offices and buildings now owned or possessed by said corporation, together with the superstructure and iron rails and its appurtenances, rolling stock, engines, cars, tenders, tools, machinery, steamboats, tugboats and their tackle, apparel and furniture, and other personal property and stock in connecting roads used as aforesaid, and the ferry rights across the Mississippi River. Second, all that portion of the road commencing at the point Westwego opposite to the city of New-Orleans, on the west bank of the Mississippi River, and extending along the track of road for a distance of seventy miles, with all the rights of the said corporation in the said portion of the main line; together with the lands, buildings, machinery, stock, and other real and personal property, and the franchises, tolls, rights, privileges pertaining and exclusively belonging to the said portion of the said road, and separately used with the same, and including depots, station-houses, engine-houses, car-houses, freight-houses, store-houses, wharves, warehouses, sheds, machine-shops, offices, and buildings, in connection with the said portion of road west of Mississippi River, together with the superstructure, iron rails, and appurtenances; also, the rolling stock, engines, cars, tenders, tools, steam-boats, machinery and other boats and vessels, and their tackle, apparel, and furniture, fuel, materials, and other personal property appertaining to and used with the constructing, repairing, or carrying on the business of this portion of the road separately and exclusively. Third, all that portion of the main line of said road located or to be located from the point on the road seventy miles from Westwego, and extending westerly through the State of Louisiana to the Sabine River, with all the lands, buildings, rights of way, superstructures, franchises, tolls, privileges, depots, stations, or other rights of way of the said corporation, or which may be held or conveyed by the said trustees or under this decree with the connecting roads, either located or surveyed, or to be located and surveyed, in the State of Louisiana, and which appertains to the said road or connecting roads or branch roads of that portion of the said road within the said State. Fourth, all of the road from the Sabine River to the City of Houston, in the State of Texas, with all the lands, right of way, superstructions, buildings, depots, stations, station-houses, shops, rolling stock, machinery, materials, appertaining or belonging to the line of road from the Sabine River aforesaid to the City of Houston, and exclusively belonging to the same, and any other real and personal property, franchises, rights of way, tolls, grants of privileges not herein described, and which are included in the said deed; and it is to be understood that the sale under this deed of trust, and the decree herein mentioned, is to be subject to a deed of trust bearing date the 1st day of January, 1869, by the said corporation to Oakes Ames and Edwin D. Morgan, trustees, and which affects that portion of the said road and property before mentioned lying within the cities of New-Orleans and Mobile and between the said cities, and is not to impair in any manner the incumbrance aforesaid or the rights under the said deed, the said mortgage or deed to said parties being made to secure a uniform series of bonds of four thousand in number, and each for one thousand dollars, with interest, coupons attached of forty dollars each, payable semi-annually on the 1st of January and July of each year, and bearing even date with the mortgage, and which is referred to in the said mortgage or deed of trust to the plaintiff in this suit. And it is further understood that the property included in the second and third or other parcels above described, being the property lying westerly of the City of New-Orleans and the Mississippi River, in the States of Louisiana and Texas, shall be subject to the mortgages or deeds of trust executed by the said corporation under the power reserved in the deed of mortgage or trust described in the proceedings in this cause to issue bonds to an amount in the aggregate not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars per mile for each mile of the railroad or railroads constructed west of the Mississippi River, which power has been executed by the said corporation by the execution of a mortgage executed to Oakes Ames and Edwin D. Morgan, dated the 15th day of March, 1870, whereby an issue of bonds to the amount of twelve thousand five hundred dollars per mile was provided for upon all the tract of road in the State of Louisiana, and the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars for all of the track west of the Louisiana line and lying in the State of Texas, which mortgage was modified by an act of mortgage dated 1st January, 1872, but does not increase the amount of the incumbrances; and also a further mortgage, bearing date 1st July, 1870, securing the payment of the second mortgage bonds guaranteed by the State of Louisiana, and which mortgage is an incumbrance on the railroad of said corporation to the west of the river Mississippi and extending to the Sabine River, and all other mortgages existing under said power. There will be prepared twenty days before the day of sale an inventory of the property to be sold in the different parcels, and copies of the mortgages will be in the hands of the Masters for exhibition to any person desiring to purchase. The power to the Trustees to bid for the bondholders is reserved in the decree. The Trustees and the Masters will give information of the matter intrusted to them prior to the sale.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES,
New-York City.

The demand for the letter of Mr. W. H. RUSSELL, our special correspondent at Vienna, describing the opening of the Weltausstellung, is such that we reprint it in this morning's TIMES. It is the first of a series which will be found indispensable by those who desire a clear and full history of the important event to which they relate.

Senator EUGENE CASSERLY, of California, has returned his back pay to the Treasury. He desires, in doing so, "not to be held as reflecting in the least on members of Congress who see their way clear to the adoption of an opposite course." Mr. CASSERLY need have no fear of the effect of his action in this regard. The feeling of the community against those who do not surrender their back pay is so strong that Mr. CASSERLY's example will not much strengthen it, and his amiable disclaimer will certainly not check it.

The relations of the two branches of the Presbyterian Church, South and North, and the prospect of a union of the former with the Reformed Dutch Church, are matters of interest to many thousands of people. They will be found clearly described in the letter of our correspondent from New-Brunswick, N. J.

Our columns this morning contain a curious picture of the scenes which preceded and attended the funeral of the murderer NIXON. The procession which accompanied the remains to the grave was a large one, and, considering the circumstances of the deceased, it is not improper to call it a kind of pageant. Who shall say of this conspicuous honor paid to a man who had just expiated with death a crime of the grossest character, how far it originated in sympathy for the misfortune of the dead, and how far in sympathy with his crime? Whatever the source of the feeling aroused, those having charge of the funeral seemed to think it was proper to stimulate it by traversing the principal streets of the entire Sixth Ward. Such scenes have at least one lesson for us, that the material of which criminals are made is plenty enough in our City to require the wisest and firmest measures to keep it down.

No doubt the Mayor will to-day afford the Aldermen further food for reflection and satisfy the general curiosity by sending in his nominees for Police Commissioners, and Chamberlain, and Commissioner of Jurors, which are the only offices of importance under the charter which remain to be filled. Mr. HAVEMEYER has an abundance of good material to choose from, and we may safely assume that these final nominations will be creditable. If they are, they will undoubtedly be confirmed, and in the course of the next ten days the new City Government will be in full operation. By this prompt action and this cordial co-operation between the Mayor and Aldermen, the wisdom of the method of appointment provided in the charter, for which we always contended, has been fully justified. Thus far few mistakes have been made, and in the several commissions which have been filled we have a body of officials in whose hands the great trusts committed to them are entirely safe. We are confident that both the Mayor and Aldermen will still meet public expectation by continuing to be guided by the same harmony and devotion to the public good by which they have thus far been controlled in the discharge of their delicate and important duties.

The appointment of a new Cabinet by M. THIERS is announced, and its composition is claimed by his adherents as indicating a disposition to rely still upon the Left Centre, or the Conservative Republicans. The reception of the announcement confirms the view that the recent victory of the Radicals in Paris has inflamed the passions and quickened the fears of all parties. The Monarchists are daily arraying themselves with loud threats against the President, and accuse him of "playing with powder." They demand repressive measures. The Reds, on the other hand, equally denounce M. THIERS, and accuse him of willingness to betray the Republic. They are demanding some definite committal on his part to their own views, and particularly to the policy of an early breaking up of the Assembly. In many respects the affairs of France are more unpromising than at any time since the peace, and are felt to be so by the intrepid but wily statesman who controls them.

Shall We Have the Amendments.

Credit must be given the State Senate for its action upon the amendments proposed by the Constitutional Commission. While the Assembly has been occupied during the past week with efforts to secure a final adjournment, the Senate has been busied with the consideration of the amendments, and has made such progress that the whole will probably be sent to the Assembly early in the present week. It is also gratifying to find that no alterations have been made in the work of the commission, except to change the proposed method of electing State Senators. The modification proposed by Mr. James Wood, and adopted, preserves the principle upon which the commission acted, as it abolishes the present system of election by single districts, but, instead of the system approved by the commission, provides that the thirty-two Senators shall be chosen from the present eight judicial departments of the State, among which they are to be distributed according to population. This plan seems equally good with the one first suggested, and, since it has proved acceptable to the Senate, it should not meet with objection in the Assembly. We are aware that the lower House contains many aspirants for seats up-stairs, who believe their chances are lessened by this enlargement of the constituencies. But we also know that these aspirants cannot afford to display any hostility to these amendments because they decrease individual opportunities for preferment.

The Senate having set an example so excellent in this matter, the Assembly should follow it. The latter body has voted to adjourn finally on Friday next, but even if this resolution should meet the concurrence of the Senate, ample time remains to finish up this most important business. The members are entirely familiar with these amendments, and not a single speech is needed for their further enlightenment. There are some few gentlemen who will undoubtedly believe it to be absurd that constitutional changes should be passed upon without the ventilation of their views at great length; but we believe that the public at large, and the members in particular, are prepared to act intelligently, without the instruction to be derived from these speeches. We hope and believe, therefore, that when the amendments come down from the Senate, that some member will have the pluck to move concurrence, and after reasonable debate, demand the previous question. If this is done, we are satisfied a large majority will be found ready to take immediate action on the subject. We are sure that public opinion will fully justify such a course, in consideration of the fact that the action of the present Legislature is not conclusive. The amendments must be passed upon by the next Legislature, and then voted upon by the people at the next general election before they can become part of the organic law. If there is in them anything which can possibly be injurious to the public, it will certainly be discovered during the long and repeated examinations they must yet undergo.

Constant agitation until their final adoption is the life of these amendments. We believe there is no one of them which is not demanded for the best interests of the State. Discussion will only tend to more firmly establish them in public favor, and such criticisms as may be advanced only show their absolute necessity. It is a reproach to the great Empire State, which cannot be too soon removed, that its system of government is inefficient to imbecility, parsimonious to the extreme of meanness, and that it facilitates corruption to a most dangerous extent. It is undeniable that the changes proposed by the commission and adopted by the Senate will eradicate these evils, which have long been admitted, and for which a remedy has been urgently demanded. The amendments to the executive and legislative articles will of themselves work the desired reformation. By the former we will secure great and long needed improvements in the management of public affairs. As to the proposed legislative changes there is even less doubt. We have presented the claims of these amendments to public favor only by stating their nature. Anything beyond this is wholly unnecessary, as they recommend themselves. The most important provision is that which prohibits special legislation, and it is alone worth far more than all the expense and labor which have been required to bring these amendments thus far on their way into the fundamental law. With this provision the volume of legislation will be diminished three-fifths, and the Legislature being able to give necessary attention to every measure which is presented, corruption at Albany is plucked up by the roots. If the Legislature is called upon to consider 2,000 bills, the community is sure to get crude, unwholesome, corrupt legislation; if it has only 800 claiming its care, such publicity is given to each of these that only such as are sure to be for the public welfare have any chance of becoming laws. The experience of Illinois, under its new constitution, is conclusive upon this point, and our legislators cannot afford to ignore it. We are sure we speak only the general sentiment of the State when we say that this amendment is imperatively demanded for the preservation of public morality.

We urge upon the members to take up the amendments as soon as they are received from the Senate, and act upon them without delay. By pursuing this course, they will be meeting public expectation, and will earn popular commendation. If, on the other hand, they neglect this imperative duty, they will find, upon returning to their constituents, that they have forfeited general confidence and respect by thus avoiding the achievement of a great reform. No plea they can offer will be held to excuse the fact that when it was in their power to relieve us from the admitted agencies for evil of the Constitution of 1846 they did not do it. Just now the people judge public men by deeds, not words; and we hope the Assemblymen will do nothing at the close of their labors to forfeit that public approval which they have thus far done much to deserve.

A New Route to Philadelphia.

The laying out of another route to Philadelphia appears to have been fairly begun. The engineers of "The New-Jersey Railroad Company" are busy surveying a line, and the work of construction will, no doubt, be commenced as soon as the maps and specifications are ready. This is the company which was organized under the recent General Railroad law of New-Jersey in the interest, as is generally supposed, of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. If this supposition is correct, and so far as we know it is not in any way denied, the new road will, of course, not give the public the advantage of a competing route; but even apart from the need of competition, facilities for travel and transportation greatly in addition to those now existing will soon be, and indeed are now, very much wanted between the first and second cities of the Union.

There is one benefit that many people have imagined might be secured by a new route to Philadelphia which neither the line of which we are speaking, nor any other, is likely to confer. We allude to a material shortening of the distance. It has been a very common practice, whenever any set of men desired to get up a railroad in competition with one already in operation, to call the anticipated work an "air-line." Projected routes from here to Philadelphia were, therefore, denominated "air-lines," and the idea was extensively inculcated that a great many miles could be saved by their construction. The simple fact about the matter is that the route from the foot of Desbrosses or Cortlandt-street, by way of Kensington to the Philadelphia State House is only about six miles greater than an absolute air-line would be; and a road following an absolute air-line would, as any one who will take the trouble to look at a map of New-Jersey will at once see, be an utter impossibility. The new route will probably be almost exactly the same length as the old one; but it is anticipated that a considerable saving of time may be effected in two ways—first by the avoidance of a number of towns through which the present line passes; and second, by the ability so to locate it that a smaller proportion of the common roads shall cross it on a level.

The new road is expected to cross the Delaware near Yardleyville, a village four miles above Trenton. So far as scenery is concerned, the ride will be a considerably more attractive one than at present. It might even then, it is true, be inferior to some of the more romantic portions of Switzerland. We doubt, however, whether the scenery along the road, even if its superiority to that of the old route were much greater than it is likely to be, would make any very marked difference in the amount of travel. It is very remarkable how little regard the public in their choice of routes are apt to manifest for scenery of any kind. A near view of the Himalayas themselves from the line of a railroad would be of small profit to the stockholders, if passengers could save twenty minutes by taking a rival road.

The laying out of the new route presents, we are sorry to say, no definite prospect of a reduction of passenger fares. The present charge between the two cities is, considering the circumstances, enormously high. Three dollars and a quarter to West Philadelphia is, the distance being only ninety miles, over three and a half cents per mile. The proportion of through passengers on the trains is very much larger than on most roads, and the relative expense therefore incurred by hauling nearly empty cars over a part of the route is, compared with most other roads, very small. There are no heavy grades. The great amount of travel allows the engines to be worked up to uncommonly near their full capacity. Two dollars would, all things considered, be an ample charge. This would be a little over two and one-fifth cents per mile; and, if it were not that the traveling public are expected to pay the expenses incurred by the Camden and Amboy Company in building branch roads, to maintain their monopoly, would yield a handsome profit. Even making full allowance for this intensely just and equitable tax upon the community, a through fare of two dollars and a half, especially taking into account the increase of travel likely to result from such a reduction, is quite as much as would be in any way reasonable.

Law Reporting.

Among the abuses which have been exposed since THE TIMES began the work of reform, none are more noteworthy than those found in the manner of reporting judicial decisions. Lawyers had grown so used to them that they were allowed to sleep, until Mr. DELAFIELD induced the Bar Association to appoint a committee to examine the subject. The committee has made a report, to which we have already briefly alluded, disclosing a condition of things astonishing even to lawyers.

It appears that the business of manufacturing reports is conducted on the same principle as the wholesale manufacture of wooden nutmegs, or any equally useful article; that the great object is to print as many volumes as possible, quite regardless of their contents or merits, and that the profession have been compelled to buy the chaff in order to get the wheat. The reporters of the Court of Appeals and Supreme Court are State officers. LANSING, the Supreme Court reporter, publishes the three volumes per year allowed by law, and besides this, BARBOUR, an outsider, publishes an irregular set of four volumes per year, containing many of the same cases reported by LANSING. The two sets of practice reports issue five volumes per year, often printing the same cases which appear in the reports of the Court of Appeals, the Supreme, Superior, and Common Pleas. Thus there are frequently four reports of the same case, three commonly, and two always. There are cases which are reported in their various stages as many as eight times. A few years ago the failure of the Court of Appeals reporter to perform his duty led to the establishment of two rival series, and many of the cases of that court are reprinted three and four times. The business of law-book making entails enormous expense upon the people, for although the cost is first borne by the lawyers, it is ultimately paid by those who employ them. The labor of examining useless books falls upon the profession, but it is paid for by their clients. The multiplication of books is, however, a trifling evil compared with the manner in which the reporters cloud, misreport, and malreport the law.

Our law is made up of two sources, statute law and judge-made law, and the latter is just as binding as the former. What would be thought of a statute-book which declared the contrary to what the Legislature had enacted? And this is what the reports constantly do.

There are opinions, purporting to be of the Court of Appeals, which were not only never adopted, but were never delivered by that court. There are reports, the head-notes of which state the reverse of what was decided. There are many cases in which the dissenting opinions are reported as the opinions of the court, and the true opinions have never been reported. Not only lawyers are misled by such authority, and, relying upon what is on its face the best authority, innocently give their clients advice which leads to groundless quarrels and litigation, but the authors of the digests, who are always on the look-out for errors, fall into them, and spread bad law over the land. The result is the want of uniformity in the law, which is followed by contempt.

Take the sixty-second volume of Barbour's Reports as an illustration of the system. It contains seventy decisions; twenty-three of them were decided in 1862 and 1863, and were not reported until 1872, a delay of ten years after their rendition. Nine of them are reported elsewhere. Many of them are unworthy of being reported at all. One of them, decided in 1832, and reported in 1872, had been reported in almost the same words by BARBOUR in 1863, and to make the matter worse, the Court of Appeals had reversed the decision a year before BARBOUR reported it the first time. Another of the decisions of 1862 reported in 1872 had been reversed by the Court of Appeals in 1863. Three of the cases of 1862, reported by BARBOUR in 1872, he had previously reported, only giving the opinion of another judge as that of the court. Another case reported in the same volume was never decided by the court at all. The public ear has been filled with outcries against adulterated food and medicine, and the State employs inspectors to guard the public health, but has neglected to protect the people from bad law. The reproach that the law furnishes precedents for every proposition, good, bad, and indifferent, is too well deserved, and the reason is now explained. It needs no argument to prove how deeply the interests of the public are concerned in the certainty and uniformity of the law, or how important it is that the judge who decides and the counsel who advises should all be regulated by the same standard.

The committee report that they would have no difficulty in recommending a scheme to produce the desired reform, and they strongly intimate that a body like the English Council of Law Reporting, aided by the necessary legislation, would effect this end; but they prefer, before making any recommendation, to receive suggestions from the profession and Press throughout the State. This course appears to be wisely adapted to comprehend the interests and secure the support of all, and we hope will meet with a ready and hearty response. No reform has ever been proposed which affects the best interests of the people more nearly, and if Mr. DELAFIELD and his associates can devise a scheme to accomplish it they will do the State good service.

Physical Culture.

The other day the students of Princeton College engaged in a series of athletic contests for a prize offered by a lady. There was club-swinging and turning upon the trapeze, jumping and vaulting of various sorts, and the winner, we may be sure, in taking his reward from the fair hands of the donor, felt as proud as any conqueror of the Olympic games. It will occur to many to compare this prize with another of a different nature offered some years ago to the same college by Mr. LEONARD JEROME. He proposed to establish a gold medal, to be awarded each year to that member of the senior class who should be chosen by his fellows as the first gentleman of their number. The offer, we believe, was declined, and, no doubt, wisely. However kindly intended, the desirability or tastefulness of such a premium is at least questionable. The union of good qualities that go to make up what is commonly understood to be embraced in "the fine old name of gentleman," is not altogether to be had by striving, and the instinct of magnanimity which makes its essence would be first revolted by a competitive distinction.

But the prize which Mrs. THOMPSON proposes is one which the young gentlemen of Nassau Hall may contend for without any misgivings, and which will impel them to a catholicity of athletic education too rare among our collegians and American youth generally. As an exercising community, we are bound hand and foot to the idols of rowing and base-ball, two admirable things in their way, but yet not exhaustive of gymnastic usefulness, nor to every one attainable or convenient. What we should like to encourage is the formation of athletic clubs that shall devote themselves to the cultivation of all out-door sports and exercises. In England the gymnastic contest between Oxford and Cambridge which annually follows the boat-race, excites scarcely less attention and enthusiasm, and the winner of the hundred yards, or the mile run, or the hurdle race is almost as much of a hero in his own college at least as any of the "champions of the immortal eight." This has a twofold advantage, since it distributes praise, and so avoids the danger of that concentration of vanity, against which not even so great a man as a university oar is always proof, and—which is the main usefulness of all such contests—it imparts increased zeal for physical development by multiplying fields of successful effort. It is not given to all to be stroke of a winning crew, but the youthful Euryalus who carries his college colors to the front of a hotly-contested race may console himself with having reached a scarcely lower pinnacle of honor or achievement.

Seriously, we should be glad to see such contests form a part of those college meetings which now confine themselves to rowing or base-ball; and we should be doubly glad to see our young men generally outside the colleges, especially those who are city bred, practise such exercises more generally. All cannot row or play base-ball, and the former, at least, implies a certain expenditure which comparatively few can afford. But running and jumping are in the power of all, and they are both admirable exercises. There is in the City one organization of this eclectic character, which, to parody BACON, takes all physical knowledge to be its province, and Columbia College supports besides an athletic association, which held on Saturday last its fifth meeting. But instead of one or two there should be a hundred. Then an annual tournament between their respective champions, at some place such as Jerome Park, where ladies could grace the scene with their attendance, might soon present a spectacle worthy comparison with these classic contests which helped so largely to make Hellas, in arms as well as arts, mistress of the world.

MINOR TOPICS.

Perhaps the coolest piece of impudence on record in recent American history is the following dispatch from the leader of the McEnery raiders in New-Iberia, La.:

> NEW-IBERIA, La., May 14.—The report from Gen. Badger that on Wednesday last he drove us from our camp is false. He on that day was compelled to fall back before us. We were not dispersed, but separated, fully organized, to avoid any conflict with Federal authority and Federal troops. ALCIBIADES DE BLANC.

It is but a few years since this man was fighting under the Confederate flag against the authority and troops he is now so anxious to avoid conflict with. He does not hesitate to take up arms against a State administration to which he knows Federal support is pledged until its claims to support are lawfully condemned. Evidently ALCIBIADES DE BLANC has no scruples on the score of principle in the matter. He is willing to set up his own authority against that of any Government—whenever he thinks he is safe.

It will be difficult for the new Fire Commissioners to much improve the department which comes into their charge, for the sufficient reason that it is already nearly perfect. It, therefore, they maintain its present high state of efficiency, they will be deserving of commendation. There are, however, some points concerning which the full measure of reform has not been reached, and the first of these is the tower alarm-bells, which should long ago have been reformed altogether out of existence. Since the completion of the fire-alarm telegraph it has been impossible to discover any reason for the continuance of these bells. They never give the first alarm of a fire, and usually the engines are well on the way to the spot indicated by telegraph before the first note of alarm is sounded from the towers. These bells are the last relics of the old volunteer days, and they should be at once and forever silenced. Not only are they wholly useless but they are expensive as well, entailing an expenditure of some $40,000, which is utterly wasted, and although not a very large sum, seems to us large enough to be worth saving. Commissioners PERLEY, HATCH, and VAN COTT should give this matter early and careful attention.

As a natural consequence of the high-pressure method of doing business, the agents of the White Star line have been summoned to Washington by the Postmaster General to show cause why their contract to carry the mails should not be revoked, because of the inadequacy of their present service. This action will meet with public approval, as the frequent failures recently to take out the Saturday European mails according to the terms of the contract have resulted in some loss and great annoyance to the commercial community. The mails cannot possibly be dispatched regularly by a line which has so few vessels, and which permits such disasters as that which lately occurred to the Oceanic when leaving this port. There is no disposition to deal harshly with the White Star line because of its misfortunes, but when most of these can be directly traced to faulty management, justice to the public interests requires that the mails should be trusted to boats more likely to leave when advertised, and to get across without detention from accident. Mr. CRESWELL is, therefore, only performing an imperative duty in the action he has determined to take.

While Congressman PLATT, of Virginia, appoints a colored youth to West Point from his district, Messrs. CAIN and RANSIER, colored Representatives from South Carolina, send white boys. In each case the successful aspirants excelled in the competitive examinations, which should be satisfactory information to those who dread the superiority of the African, as it proves that the white race is more than holding its own against its competitor. Those who were filled with dread that the colored man would not prove a brother in the distribution of official patronage, can also take heart from these incidents, as it is plain the white boy has only to prove his better claim to have justice done him even by the negro. And those who were bewailing that West Point was to be speedily inundated with African barbarians sent there by Southern negro Representatives, can also dismiss their fears, as the facts persist in being against them. They can easily guard against this woe by keeping their boys ahead of their colored competitors in the attainments required for admission to the Military Academy.

VIENNA'S EXPOSITION.

Opening Day—Scenes in the Fair Building—Picturesque Sights—An Assemblage of Historical Personages.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD RUSSELL, LL. D.

Special Correspondence of the New-York Times.

VIENNA, Thursday, May 1.

There is no doubt about the value of "a beginning" in any work, whether it leads to failure or success. The wise old Greeks, indeed, accounted the beginning as half of the whole. But sometimes the half that is left undone is greater than that half which has been accomplished. The "Wien Weltausstellung" has been opened, and rarely has so much of a beginning left so large a tail behind it. It is in the nature of the essence of a Universal Exhibition never to be ready for exhibition on the opening day. The conceptions and ideas of men of enterprise are forever baffled by inert matters which they cannot dominate. The "world" is summoned to come and see, and it comes! The day is fixed, and the hours are numbered, and the whole force of a nation is concentrated on the execution of a task, and it presents the world with an "opening." "The best laid schemes of men and mice gang aft a'glee," wrote Burns, long ago. A fine beginning—that which will be a show worthy of the care that has been bestowed on it—of the aspirations it has created, and of the ends to which it is destined in the development of the influences of an ancient monarchy as well as in the demonstration of the vital force of the rivalry which urges the nations of the world to strive continuously for the palm of pre-eminence in arts, sciences, and in all that constitutes what is called civilization. A fine beginning of such a "Weltausstellung" we had, indeed, to-day. But it was rather in what it promised than in what it performed that the ceremony was noteworthy. Perhaps the greater part of the vast crowd which was assembled under the roof of the Grand Rotundo would have been quite as much gratified by the sight of so many imperial and royal personages upon the estrade as if their presence was not occasioned by the ceremonies connected with a grand national undertaking. But when the Kaiser of Austria, and King of Hungary, Bohemia, &c., led his glittering files of crowned guests through the lengthening naves and many-linked aisles of the huge temple in which industry and intelligence are to be enthroned, he must have felt that the old stigma of unreadiness which has been attached to Austria was not quite wiped off by the state in which the interior presented itself to them. It is true that much of the blame is due to the plethora which has choked the railway system, but that plethora is owing, in a large measure, to unskilful treatment, and a little, perhaps, to constitutional defects.

OPENING DAY.

Let us, however, proceed to give an account of the ceremony itself. The building has been well described by pen and pencil, and made familiar to the world. Nothing is more wearisome and distracting than a long array of words applied to measurement of space and details of architectural structure, so we shall get away at once to the Prater and join the crowd which, since the doors were opened at 9 o'clock, have been pouring into the Rotundo and arranging themselves in their places. It was not very easy, to be sure, to effect that joining, especially if one had to come from parts of the city away from the line of public vehicles. But let us be thankful for all that. With immense stupidity the hackney coachmen struck several days before the Exhibition opened, instead of waiting till the last moment. Strangers were thus warned beforehand, and made their arrangements accordingly. They could afford to pay the sums demanded by the proprietors of private carriages, which earned from $10 a day upward. The public, too, was prepared for the worst. But if the coachmen had only deferred action till the very day itself, or even the night before, the mischief and inconvenience they could have caused must have exceeded their fullest expectations. The day itself was like many of those with which the latter part of April has favored us, and made one feel how large are the licenses of the poets who sing of the charms of May, when all the world goes about the meads to gather flowers and inhale the balmy breeze. The sky was cold and gray. A true Viennese wind—teeth-chattering and relentless—swept through the streets, and as the hours wore on the heavens became more sombre and overcast, and the wind dying away somewhat permitted the clouds to drop their ungrateful showers in the dust, which one glint of sunshine revived, however, with magic power. The result of such weather was visible in the aspect of the crowd outside the building. The gentlemen were requested to wear uniform or evening dress and white ties. The ladies were solicited to appear in morning toilettes and bonnets; but the requests and solicitations of the authorities were not always attended to. The gentlemen were especially careful not to expose themselves to cold. They wore great coats and cloaks of every hue, so that there was over the general assemblage a spotty, dingy appearance, which the bright colors of the more hardy sex could not redeem. As to uniforms, it must be said that in any similar public ceremonial there would have been a greater display in the United States. There were hundreds of uniforms, of course, but they were almost lost in the mass of greys and browns and blacks. There was no military display inside the Rotundo, no lines of infantry or living avenues of sentries. There were, however, very verdant and stincelant oases in this bourgeoisie desert, and had a few rays of sunshine but vouchsafed to fall through the windows when the estrade was tenanted by its illustrious guests, there would no doubt have been wondrous effects of light, such as there was once when a feeble little gleam illuminated a group of Magyars, amid whom stood Andrassy, and when it seemed as if a diamond mine flecked with rubies and emeralds had been suddenly heaved up in sight.

WITHIN THE BUILDING.

When my vehicle deposited me at the entrance in front of the grand portico, it was about 9½ o'clock, and there was even then a considerable throng of chariots massed in the outside avenues. The arrangements were exceedingly simple—mounted police to direct the course of the drivers to the gateways—policemen and officials on foot to receive and guide the visitors—before each of the "portals" of the exhibition a military band was stationed playing in tune—as any Austrian military band can do—the waltzes, galops, mazurkas, &c., which the Viennese love. But it was too cold and raw to stop to listen to the best of music, where there was no dancing to warm one. The tickets, which were the objects of such solicitude, were lettered, and bore a plan of the building on the reverse, and as each division of the space of the Rotundo allotted to visitors had corresponding letters there was no difficulty in finding the particular allocation—each in the shape of the plane of a truncated cone, on which you were to move, if you could, and have your being for several rather weary hours. There were no barriers between the spaces, nothing but a purple worsted cord, to separate one letter from the other, and there were iron chairs placed for the ticket-holders, which were, however, taken at discretion, and bore no reference to anything but the number of the tickets issued. When the time of the opening approached there was a considerable space left between the front of the seats at the broad end and the narrow end resting on the main avenue, through which the imperial procession was to pass, of each division, for fond as the Viennese are of pleasure and of sight-seeing there were many who did not like to spend twenty-five florins, or $12 50, for a ticket for the one day, and the Commissioners reserved a considerable number of tickets for purchasers. The Austrians are almost as attentive as Americans to womankind, and the "dames" had certainly the best places. No one would have grumbled had they kept them. But, alas! the moment the show began, many of the fair ladies stood up on their chairs, and, instead of catching a glimpse of a kaiser or a prince, one could only see a chignon or a pouffe. It was a most orderly multitude, so sedate, and almost silent till the great excitement of the day caused the upheaving of the deep. Nothing is so dangerous to regulations as long waiting and endurance of them, and after an hour or so the more restless spirits began to move about on the floor below the "dames," and then the boldest of them invaded adjoining precincts, and seized unappropriated chairs, dragging them off to chosen spots, as ants haul away grains of wheat. Indeed, there was not much for the eye to rest upon or to satisfy contemplation. The Central Fountain, beset with blooming azaleas, must have been rather a hateful object to some whose view of the imperial platform it intercepted, and as yet there are only a few groups of statuary and two large stalls to break the sweep of the circle, the pilasters around which were still moist with color. The general effect was grand, for the interior proportions are noble; but the proper study of mankind is man, and the loungers were much more busy in watching the movements of the throng than in admiring the weeping angels which decorate the divisions of the dome, or the tracery of the Imperial monograms all around the walls. The rows of white chairs with purple velvet seats, placed in strict order in the entrance at the north of the rotunda, as yet unoccupied, indicated the places which would be occupied by the Emperor and his guests, but there was no double eagle or standard above, and indeed there was but a sorry display of flags outside the exhibition and none at all ins'de; and as for the streets, it may be said that a traveler who had been in Vienna a month ago would have fancied there was grief instead of rejoicing in the city, so great was the want of animation, principally owing to the absence of fiacres rattling about. There would not have been the least inconvenience had the public been permitted to look around them for an hour or so before the ceremonial began, and as yet the outside of the buildings, with their fine examples of plastic art, deserves contemplation far more than the crude interior, but with the drawback already mentioning there was some food for the curious in the gathering before them.

A MOTLEY GATHERING.

The nations of the world have not all come yet, and the large majority of the visitors were of German-speaking races. There were fez caps and Arab faces, Japanese in European Court-dresses, and some other oriental types, but there were thousands of black hatted, long tailed coated, and white tie wearing men, all looking like each other, and the faces of the women which were turned toward us were too distant, and the backs of the heads of those before us too near, to afford much opportunity for satisfactory examination. Nor was there any music inside—the faint strains of the band outside were wafted in now and then by the bitter northern blast, and under such escort we would sooner have been without them. Three hours passed in such "distractions" do not glide swiftly by, but half an hour before the time of the ceremonial opening there was gathered near the "throne-estrade" a very brilliantly-attired crowd indeed. On the right of the raised platform on which the chairs were placed was the Hofstaat, which was bright with green-plumed cocked hats and white tunics splashed with orders, and with the embroidered dresses of the court officers which were visible about the rows of fair ladies attired in all the bravery that Paris and Vienna can combine to produce; next these on the right there were all the diplomatists to be found in the Austrian capital, crusted with gold lace, and quite unlike the usually unostentatious people whom we find in the chancelleries of an afternoon. To the left of the throne-estrade, were the Ministry and the various officers of the departments of State, and to their left again were the members of the Reichsrath and delegations, to whom came next in order the Exhibition Commissioners and those of the provinces, the members of the Gesangsverein and the musicians, under Johann Strauss, being in the rear, and extending from the rear of the ministerial compartment to the back of the seats of the Commissioners. There every one was in full uniform, and the effect was sufficiently good, not the least remarkable personage in the crowd on the left of the throne being a man in full Highland costume, and Royal Stuart tartan. He claims descent from the Stuarts, and there were times when his appearance would have produced much trepidation about Balmoral had a member of the house of Hanover been there, as he calls himself Stuart of Albany.

THE MAGNATES OF HUNGARY.

The next most remarkable-looking people were certainly the magnates of Hungary. The Magyar noble may dress as he pleases—at least no one could tell us if there was any family tradition to regulate their costume—and they lay all climes, eras, and countries under contribution to their fancy or caprice. The result is generally a pelisse of some rich velvet stuff, doubled with costly furs, braided and flecked with precious stones, hanging from one shoulder, over a tunic of velvet, satin, or embroidered stuff, with diamond, emerald, or ruby studs, a pair of gold or silver encrusted pantaloons to match or set off the whole of the color of the pelisse, Hessian boots with embroidered tops—the whole surmounted by the most coquettish caps of furs and feathers, generally ornamented with aigrettes of precious stones. This dress is varied infinitely in cut and color; some wear scimitars and others sabres, and altogether they have an Oriental chic about them, and put one in mind of the "portrait of a rabbi by Rembrandt," which has been so often engraved. But bright as they were, when Andrassy came among them they all paled like so many candles in sunshine. He was a marvel—almost equal to old Prince Esterhazy at the coronation of Moscow, when he let fall pearls at every step, not from his mouth, but from his clothes. The Hungarian Minister wore the very brightest orange-red satin tunic and small-clothes that ever were seen, and that was not much, so richly were they covered with gold; and his boots were set with gems, and his white tunic, trimmed with silver fox and sable, was fastened with jewels, of which a multitude flickered on his breast. The uniforms and cocks' plumes of the Austrians around brought out this splendor all the more, and made the two British deputy lieutenants, Sir A. Rothschild and Sir R. Wallace, who were near in scarlet coatees, silver epaulettes, and cocked hats, look very mesquin indeed, although they could have probably bought up several dozen of their gorgeous brethren. Notwithstanding all these fine people and the charming faces which now and then peeped out from the crowd, it was weary waiting.

ARRIVAL OF ROYALTY.

There was no opportunity of seeing the arrival of the Emperor and the royal people, as the property of the Irish bird, of which Sir Boyle Roche spoke, of being in two places at once, had not been vouchsafed to us, but it was satisfactory to know that they kept their time and arrived at the Hof pavilion, inside the Exhibition inclosure, soon after 11½, where they assembled to form the procession. It was only a minute or two after 12 o'clock when the Emperor, respectfully invited by the Minister of Commerce to enter the rotunda, left the pavilion, and giving his arm to the Crown Princess of Prussia—Princess Imperial of Germany and Princess Royal of England—led the way to the southern portal, which is beautified by the fine group of Vincent Pilts representing Austria inviting the nations to join in the industrial fête, with Genius, Justice, and History by her side. Next to the Emperor came the Prince Imperial of Germany with the Empress of Austria on his arm, and then the Prince of Wales with the wife of the Senior Archduke on his arm. It is said that there was some difficulty in arranging the order of precedence, as the Prince of Wales would have taken rank before the Prince Imperial, inasmuch as the latter was not born imperial and the older kingdom would have had a right to its seniority. However this was all arranged perfectly. At the first bar of the national "God Preserve the Emperor," every face was turned toward the grand entrance, and there was that rushing noise, like the sound of a great river at night, which follows the simultaneous movement of a multitude; but no one much heeded the Grand Master of the Ceremonies, who, wand in hand, walking backward, preceded the Kaiser; for all were waiting for his appearance within the building to let loose the pent-up volume of "Hochs," which, in a moment more, swelled through the Rotundo as Franz Joseph, with the fair wife of the Prince Imperial—one of the cleverest and best women in the world—stepped within the portal, and with modulated pace passed the agitated ranks of people, looking "every inch a king" in full dress of Austrian Field Marshal General, and with insignia of the Garter of England, the Black Eagle of Prussia, the Lion of Belgium, the Elephant of Denmark, set off on his snow-white tunic. The people scarcely noted the order in which came trooping in, each with an archduchess on his arm, the Crown Prince of Denmark, the Crown Prince of Belgium, the Crown Prince of Wurtemburg, the Duke of Coburg, Prince Arthur of England, and a full section of Austrian archdukes, and did not look at all at the staff which flooded the avenue in their rear. The acclamations were redoubled as the Emperor mounted the estrade, and almost drowned the massive chorus. When the Emperor handed the Crown Princess—and as she loves to style herself in addition, Crown Princess of England—to her chair, on his right hand, the tempest of "Hochs" burst forth again, and were again and again renewed as his distinguished followers assumed their places. Francis Joseph, turning toward his people, slowly inclined his head in acknowledgment. What a Hapsburg all over!—the tall, slight, straight figure, cut out with military precision; the serene, rather melancholy, look in the well-set eyes; the obstinate but not heavy brow and the firmly-placed head might belong to one of any other race, but the lip of the house cannot be imitated, and the Emperor, though not endued with such full plenitude of it as is his uncle, shows a full share of it from beneath the part of his heavy moustache. He wore the pure white Austrian tunic of a General, the broad, bright yellow ribbon of the toison d'or over one shoulder, and the ribbon of the garter over the other, and the blood-red trousers and gold stripe of the service. The Prince Imperial of Prussia was in the uniform of the Prussian Cuirassiers—white tunic, silver epaulettes and great jack boots, and wore the orders of the Garter, St. Stephan, the Lion and the Elephant, and took his place next the Empress, on the left hand of the Emperor. As to her Imperial Majesty, if time has not passed her by unscathed, it may be said he has lingered over his task and made it a labor of love, for she is yet one of the fairest ladies any land can boast of, and is full of grace and dignity. The Prince of Wales stood on the Emperor's right, and thus a compromise was effected on a knotty point. He wore the scarlet, gold-laced tunic of a British General officer, and the orders of St. Stephan, the Elephant and Lion. He looks very well, but his baldness increases rather too rapidly. His brother, Prince Arthur, in the sombre uniform of the Rifle Brigade, relieved by one bright spot, the star on his breast, was the plainest in attire but not the least striking of the figures on the platform, among whom towered a number of Hapsburg's archdukes and the Duke of Coburg, who has not the least resemblance to the late Prince Consort, his brother, except in height and bulk. The House of Austria is exceedingly numerous, as you may see by a glance at the almanac of Gotha, and one of the royal visitings of ceremony, which involved uniting on all the members of it then in Vienna, lasted nearly a day, and included more than a dozen calls on archdukes and some on archduchesses as well. One by one the chairs on the estrade were filled, and the crowd leaped upon the chairs to look at them while the strains of the magnificent bands pealed forth what all the English-speaking world calls, "See, the conquering hero comes," and the cheers or "hochs"—which are, perhaps, the exact reproduction of the sounds of the victorious Allemanin who destroyed the legions of imperial Rome, resounded again and again as if to assure the Emperor and his guests they were welcome, and they doubtless looked with much interest on the scene before them, as their eyes wandered over the rotunda, of which the gallery, at the base of the dome, was now full of down-turned faces. And the multitude looked as if they had never seen Emperor, Archduke, or Prince before.

A SUGGESTIVE SCENE.

It was, in truth, a strange congregation enough to look at even in this year of grace, 1873, and in the individualities present were recorded great changes in the history of the world. Three years ago it would have been strange not to have beheld the Emperor of France standing there haply on the right of the Kaiser, to whom he gave such potent and unforgiven aid in his time of trouble; but now all of France visible was a grave, lachrymose lion, towering on its pedestal above the new coalition, and seemingly regarding with fixed attention the Crown Prince of Prussia and Prince Imperial of Germany, as he, poised in his favorite attitude, stood with both hands on the huge steel pommel of his heavy sword, firmly resting on his right leg, and with his left advanced and bent at the knee. There was a moral in the interest with which an Austrian crowd gazed upon the heir to the throne of Imperial Germany. How the ghosts of the Hapsburgs must have rattled their dry bones at the fact of a Hohenzollern being by all men admitted as of right the coming "Deutschland's Kaiser!" There he was, nevertheless, the kindly, gentle, liberal "man of war," victor at Konniggrätz, victor at Wörth, conqueror at Sedan, investor of Paris, who would not, if he could stay it, that war should ever rage, and yet who would not yield a point of national honor to menace of any force. In a peace demonstration like this the presence of the Crown Prince was a pregnant commentary on the value of those anticipations of an era of universal tranquillity, or at worst endless arbitrations, which are met themselves with universal exhibitions. The juxtaposition of some of his imperial Highness' neighbors might make a nervous man uneasy. On his left, a little in the rear, was the Crown Prince of Denmark, from whom Prussia, united with Austria, had wrenched such a large payment of his father's gallant little kingdom. On his right was the Emperor, to whom the success of his arms had cost the Italian possessions of the Hapsburgs. Beyond him was the Prince of Wales, brother of his wife, husband of the Danish Princess who has never ceased to grieve over the misfortunes of her beloved country, and who can never forgive the Prussians, who mainly wrought the wrong. Further again to the right was the burly figure of the Duke of Coburg, who has been in fear and trembling for the honors he is to bequeath to his nephew, another brother of the Crown Princess, and who was swept up in the ruck of Princes in unwilling antagonism to Austria in 1866. There is not a German potentate there to whom Prussia has not been a dictator or a master or a despoiler in some way or other. And is Prussia the worse or the Crown Prince the less honored for it? Not at all. The Crown Prince of Belgium would be very glad indeed to hear that there never will be a question again of partition of his little kingdom.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

There is not much to be said of that kind anent the Prince of Wales. Whatever the descendant of the Great Mogul, ex-King of Delhi, or the King of Oude, or the Rajah of Sattarah, or the Nezani of Bengal, might aver to the detriment of his house, no European potentate can deny that his royal Highness represents, on the Continent of Europe, a very different power from that to which his brother-in-law is heir. No two men, indeed, can well be more dissimilar except in the common possession of immense good nature, and of what is called amiability. The Crown Prince is rather of a grave and pensive character. He is sedate in speech, and not much given to laughter. A joke he does not value much, and the sprightliest jest finds but moderate favor with him. He is scarcely addicted to field sports, and leader of sports as he is, he would rather drive than ride any day. He is essentially a Liberal in politics as far as our imperial Prince can go, and is all for constitutional government. His tastes are simple. He drinks but little, and never smokes except when he is campaigning. He likes beer just as well as the finest Lafite, retires early, and does not care for the pleasures of the table. The Prince of Wales overflows with animal spirits; he likes hard riding to hounds and hard exercise, though the effects of his illness have somewhat diminished his capacity for indulging in it. He is a good shot, likes his rubber of whist, knows the odds on the Derby, is a connoisseur in eating and drinking, has a fine taste in music, a true ear, an exquisite appreciation of art, is fond of social life and pleasant companions, and probably is but ill at home at a German Court, where they dine at 3 o'clock and go to bed at 11. In his feelings he is opposed to innovation and change, and is by no means satisfied with the policy of negation now in favor in England, but his great natural sagacity quite rectifies any tendency to extreme views, and his inherited respect for the Constitution leads him to perceive he cannot but accept the acts of the responsible Government. In some respects he is one of the most accomplished Princes in Europe, and all his faults, such as they seem, are the results of his position, in which he is condemned to inactivity, shut out from all participation in the cares of Government and of affairs of State, and doomed to absolute inanity, except when he is now and then put at the head of some Commission—as he is at present—for the British section.

NEW ST. STEPHEN'S.

Reopening of an Episcopal Church—Eloquent Sermon by Dr. Dix.

Yesterday morning the opening services were held in the new St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, situated in Forty-sixth-street, near Sixth-avenue. The rector of the parish, Rev. Joseph H. Price, D. D., officiated, and a large congregation was in attendance. At the conclusion of the services Dr. Price reviewed the trials and vicissitudes through which the church had passed, since 1866, when they were forced to abandon the place where they had worshiped for a period of sixty-one years, and traced the progress of the community from that time up to the present, when they had once more a church of their own. For one year, the French church in West Twenty-second-street was used for morning and evening services, and afterward, through the kindness of the rector of Trinity Church and Dr. Swope, the congregation of St. Stephen's were allowed the privilege of using Trinity Chapel. Subsequently the corporation of St. Stephen's purchased the property belonging to the Church of the Advent, in Forty-sixth-street, which has been entirely remodeled, and the sum of $10,000 expended upon improvements. The dimensions of the church are about 130 feet in depth by 40 feet in width, and the whole interior of the building is tastefully decorated.

At the evening services the church was crowded to its fullest capacity. An efficient choir was present in the gallery under the leadership of Mr. H. P. Danks. Prof. Joseph Poznanski presided at the organ, and "Regina Cœli," by Giorze, the "Gloria," by Rossini, and other pieces of church music were rendered with great effect.

At the conclusion of the services Rev. Morgan Dix, D. D., delivered an impressive discourse, taking his text from the fourth chapter and fourth verse of the Gospel of St. Matthew: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." In commenting on these words he said his object was, first, to show what a great truth they expressed, and, secondly, to draw from them some rules for our practical direction. Bread was evidently the aliment of our material life. It was a term which stood not only for meat and drink and raiment and all that we needed to keep the spark of vitality alive within us, but for all that man can collect over and above what is absolutely necessary to make him comfortable, prosperous, and happy in his relations to the world which we inhabit. But it was said that man did not live by bread alone. There must then, he said, be another side to this life for which the bread already referred to could do nothing; and the question was at once reached wherein the life of man differed from the life of other beings, that it could not be supported by the bread, which was sufficient for theirs. Dr. Dix then traced four phases of existence, commencing with elementary life without organization, which was the lowest of all. The second, the existence of chemical compounds which constituted the mineral kingdom; the third, vegetative life, such as that of plants, and the fourth, animal life, representing sensation, consciousness, instincts, and locomotion. If man was no more than the animals, and his existence was purely an animal life, then he could subsist upon bread alone, for animals had only two objects in view, the maintenance of their lives in safety and sensible comfort and the reproduction of their kind, and for those objects bread alone was sufficient. There was a small school of thinkers who were not afraid to speak out their minds in the present age, and assign to man no higher place in their philosophy than the position of the animal creation, and with this philosophy a much larger number of men was affected, who were ashamed to confess it openly. All these men could see was matter in its various combinations, and all they sought after was such bread as should sustain that existence. But this philosophy would not do, no matter who might teach it, or by what pretended proofs it was supported. It had and would always have against it the protest of the real man, who felt and knew that he was more than a material substance. He was a spirit also, and to him another spirit constantly addressed words of warning and admonition through the voice of conscience. The preacher then proceeded to show how men should act whenever the question was between bread and the word of God, and observed that the bread of worldly comforts and enjoyments should be abandoned, if necessary, in order to hold fast the word of truth. Material and spiritual forces were continually battling for the possession of the man, as evidenced in the variety of ways in which we were tempted. But our first great rule of life should be never to give up one of these words of God for all the flesh-pots, and all the baubles, and all the enjoyments of this world. And the second rule was that when we saw any man adhere to the first, we should honor and respect them; and, thirdly, we should make it a rule to live as near to God as was possible in our present state of existence, for if His words were indeed the life of the spirit, then ought we to have no higher aim than to maintain full communion with Him from whom they proceeded, and who was the great fountain of life and light, and the grand centre of all our hopes in this world and in the next.

AMUSEMENTS.

Musical and Dramatic.

ANNOUNCEMENTS OF THE DAY.

Mr. Anton Rubinstein will this day give the fifth of his seven piano recitals at Steinway Hall. The programme is to include compositions by Chopin only.... At Wood's Museum, this evening, "Yankee Locke" will commence an engagement to extend over this week.

MR. DAVIDGE'S BENEFIT.

Mr. Davidge, a time-tried and esteemed artist, is to benefit by the performance of "Divorce," at the Fifth-avenue Theatre, this evening. "Divorce" will be given on this occasion for the last time; and we trust, for Mr. Davidge's sake, that its final rehearsal will prove as potent to attract as its earliest representation.

MME. CHRISTINE NILSSON.

We reproduce, from the London Times of May 7, the account of Mme. Christine Nilsson's return to Drury Lane Theatre, in the English metropolis. "A very few lines," writes the critic, "must suffice at present to record that Mme. Christine Nilsson made her first appearance since her marriage at her Majesty's Opera yesterday evening, and was honored with a greeting as enthusiastic as the most admired of singers could possibly expect or desire. How great a favorite the Swedish lady has been for some years with the English public need hardly be stated; and had there been any doubt of it that doubt would have been set at rest last night, when every phrase and passage that came from the lips of the songstress was listened to with eager interest and applauded in proportion by an audience that crowded the house in every part. The opera selected for the occasion was the "Faust" of M. Gounod, who, with this one work which enjoys, and deservedly, a world-wide reputation, has, alone among French composers, been able to make head against the Bellinis, Donizettis, Verdis, &c., whose compositions, for years too many to count, have (Rossini's Barbiere and M. Flotow's Martha allowed for) held almost exclusive possession of our Italian lyric stage. It was as Margaret, if we remember well, that Mlle. Nilsson, at her Majesty's Theatre, under the direction of Mr. Mapleson, made her first appearance before a London audience. This has always been one of her favorite characters, and though her delineation differs in many respects from that of other artistes of renown, it exhibits characteristics which may fairly challenge criticism on the strength of what, on the whole, must be regarded as an original conception. True, it seems to many to be rather the Margaret of Ary Scheffer than the Gretchen of the German poet; but in being so it more uniformly consorts with the idea of the character as set forth in M. Gounod's expressive and fascinating music. Judged from this point of view the Margaret of Mme. Christine Nilsson is perfect in its way; while, judged from no matter what point of view, it is, from beginning to end, a highly-finished performance. Mme. Nilsson's voice last night was in first-rate condition and none of the striking points were missed. That the liveliest impression was created by the brilliant air in which, attracted by the jewels, the innocent Gretchen is for the first time awakened to a sense of vanity, will be taken for granted. This was encored with the utmost warmth and unanimity. Signor Campanini played Faust; the Mephistopheles was Signor Castelmary, a new-comer, of whom we shall take another opportunity to speak; Mlle. Macvitz was the Siebel, Mlle. Bauermeister the Martha, and Signor Mendioroz gave one of the very best representations we have witnessed of the character of Valentine. The general performance, under the direction of Sir Michael Costa, was excellent throughout."

OUR TREATY HISTORY.

Treaties Between the United States and Other Powers Since July 4, 1776.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—A volume of 900 pages has just been issued from the Government Printing Office, containing the treaties and conventions concluded between the United States and other Powers since July 4, 1776, down to, and including, the Treaty of Washington, May 8, 1871, with notes showing what treaties, or parts of treaties, have been abrogated, and the decisions thereon. From this volume it appears that the total number of treaties is 230, postal conventions excepted. There are nineteen extradition treaties, including those with Austria, Bavaria, Great Britain, Italy, Mexico, Prussia, and other German States, and Wurtemburg; and six naturalization treaties, namely: with Baden, Bavaria, Belgium, Great Britain, North Germany, and Sweden and Norway. The treaties given in this volume are with seventy-two States or Powers. The first treaty was with France, being one of alliance, and ratified in 1778. The next was with the Netherlands, in October, 1782. Then followed the treaty with Great Britain, (preliminary to peace,) Nov. 30, 1782; and with Sweden, (of commerce and navigation,) April, 1783.

The number of treaties with Great Britain is thirty-three, with France eighteen, and with Mexico thirteen. Only five treaties have been made with Spain, one in 1795 of friendship, limits, and navigation; another in 1802 of indemnity; another in 1819, ceding East and West Florida; in February, 1834, of indemnity, and last the treaty of February 12, 1871, in relation to certain claims for wrongs in Cuba against American citizens. In the treaty with Algiers in 1795, Article 11 reads as follows: "No citizen of the United States of North America shall be obliged to redeem any slave against his will, even should he be his brother; neither shall the owner of a slave be forced to sell him against his will, but all such agreements must be made by consent of the parties. Should any American citizen be taken on board an enemy's ships, by the cruisers of this Regency, having a regular passport specifying that they are citizens of the United States, they shall be immediately set at liberty. On the contrary, they having no passport, they and their property shall be considered lawful prize, as the Regency know their friends by their passports."

Article 13 of the treaty with Tunis—1797—reads as follows: "If among the crews of merchant vessels of the United States there shall be found subjects of our enemies, they shall not be made slaves, on condition that they do not exceed a third of the crew: and when they do exceed a third of the crew they shall be made slaves. The present article only concerns the sailors, and not the passengers, who shall not be in any manner molested." The previous treaty with Tripoli, 1796, declares: "As the Government of the United States of America is not in any sense founded on the Christian religion; as it has in itself no character of enmity against the laws, religion, or tranquillity of Musselmen; and as the said States never have entered into any war or act of hostility against any Mahometan nation, it is declared by the parties that no pretext arising from religious opinions shall ever produce an interruption of the harmony existing between the two countries."

Railway Car-Shops in Aurora, Ill., Burned—Loss $250,000.

AURORA, Ill., May 18.—A fire broke out in the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy Railroad car shops, in this city, about 1:30 P. M. to-day, originating in the paint-shop. Eight wooden buildings belonging to the railroad company, together with two dwellings on North Broadway, were destroyed. Most of the tools in the various shops were saved. Three Pullman cars, several passenger coaches, and some unfinished work, together with a large quantity of lumber were destroyed. There were between 350 and 400 freight cars, mostly loaded, standing in the yard, all of which were saved except eight cars loaded with lumber. The total loss is estimated at $250,000, and is fully covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not definitely known.

Mysterious Death at McKeel's Corner.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 18.—Coroner Bullock, of Cold Springs, is investigating the death of a gypsy girl who died in a wagon at McKeel's Corner, Putnam County. Her name is not known. She was about eighteen years of age. The evidence thus far shows that she had been brutally outraged. Her unknown companions were an old man and woman, and three young men, who have gone to parts as yet unknown.

THE REFORMED CHURCH.

Session of the General Synod—The Revised Constitution—Education.

From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW-BRUNSWICK, N. J., Saturday, May 17, 1873.

The General Synod of the Reformed Church in America meets in the Second Reformed Church of this city this year, on Wednesday, June 4, and a few notes concerning the business which is to come before it must be of very general interest. The General Synod is composed of three representative ministers and three ruling elders of each of the various classes. There are some thirty-four classes in America, so that the body will number 204 gentlemen. A classis is composed of the ministers in a certain defined district and one ruling elder from each church in that district. The General Synod meets on the first Wednesday in June of each year, in places appointed at the last meeting. It has the care of the general interests of the church in America, particularly of its foreign and domestic missions, its educational and publication interests, church extension, etc. The meeting will be visited this year by two of the most distinguished clergymen of the Scotch Presbyterian Church, who will make addresses and be fraternally received.

UNION WITH THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH SOUTH.

Perhaps the most important matter which will come before the synod this year is the question of union with the Presbyterian Church South. The war divided the regular Presbyterian Church of America into two parts, North and South, which do not differ a particle from each other either in doctrine or in church government. Strange to say the union of the old and new schools of the great Presbyterian body two or three years ago did not include that of the Northern and Southern divisions. It would seem that if a political union of these divided sections could take place over the graves of thousands of Americans, Northern and Southern, certainly a lamentable estrangement of a great religious body, brought about by the same causes, might be healed also. But at the close of the war the Presbyterian Church South showed no disposition toward reuniting with their brethren, but made overtures to the Reformed Church. They sent no delegates to the Northern Church, but only to the representative body of the Reformed Church. The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South began its session at Little Rock, Ark., on Thursday, and it will doubtless send a committee to this City in June to meet with the synod. No final action can be taken by the latter body this year, since such a question as a union with another body would have to be submitted to the vote of all the classes, and, of course, the terms of the proposed union will have a great influence upon such vote. The Reformed Church numbers 491 churches, 509 ministers, and 64,214 communicants, its contributions for all purposes reaching, last year, $1,066,492 45. Its strength lies about New-York City and along the Hudson, and about this vicinity; and the region about Chicago is now being well planted with Reformed churches. It is a very rich church for its size, the Collegiate Church of New-York ranking next in wealth, I believe, to the Trinity corporation. It being originally a transplant of the Church of Holland, it gathers its greatest strength where the Dutch originally settled. The Presbyterian Church South consists of fifty-six presbyteries, (corresponding to classes,) 912 ministers, 1,545 churches, and 91,206 communicants, its contributions last year amounting to the very respectable sum, under the circumstances, of $1,083,799. It thus appears that the body which seeks union with the Reformed Church is twice the size of the latter, though of no greater, and probably less, wealth. And while the Reformed ministry outnumbers its churches, the opposite is the case in the Southern Presbyterian Church. To compare the latter with the Northern Presbyterian Church, we may add that the Northern Church, whose General Assembly is now in session in Baltimore, has 166 presbyteries, 4,441 ministers, 4,730 churches, and 468,164 communicants, its contributions last year amounting to the extraordinarily large sum of $10,066,826, raised under circumstances of special excitement.

This proposition of consolidation will give rise to a great deal of discussion probably. The fact is that the difference between the great Presbyterian body and the Reformed Church is merely nominal. Their doctrinal standards are precisely the same, and their general form of government very similar. The Reformed consistory is composed, like the Presbyterian session, of the minister or elders; the presbytery corresponds to the Reformed classis; the Presbyterian Synod to the Reformed Particular Synod, and the Presbyterian General Assembly to the Reformed General Synod. The one difference is that in the Presbyterian Church the elders and deacons are by the constitution elected for life, while in the Reformed Church for a term of two years. Practically this difference is very slight, for the Reformed churches are so given to re-elections that their officers have almost a life term, while many Presbyterian congregations, in spite of their aristocratic constitution,* have adopted the democratic plan of electing for a term of years. The First Presbyterian Church of this City, for example, one of the oldest in the denomination, (dating back nearly a century and a half,) and one of the most prominent hereabouts, has recently elected deacons and elders for a term of three years. It would really seem that so slight a variance in custom ought not to keep two religious bodies apart very long. And if the union between the Southern Presbyterian and the Reformed Churches actually takes place in the next two or three years, what will be the result? Will the Reformed Church, being nearly trebled in strength of members, take a firmer foothold in distinctiveness and delay a union? Or rather will not the spectacle of a union of the Reformed Church with the Presbyterian Church South set the two memberships to thinking what is to prevent the Reformed Church from uniting with the Northern Presbyterian Church, which does not differ a particle in doctrine or government from the Southern? At any rate many minds in both the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches think a further distinctiveness foolish and uneconomical, and believe that not many years will pass before a general union of these bodies must take place. And in relation to this matter these words of Dr. Ostrander, who was one of the oldest and sturdiest Reformed ministers of the country, being ninety-two or ninety-three years of age, shortly before his death a few weeks since, are most significant: "It may be that the Reformed Church has accomplished its distinctive mission, and that the time has come in the providence of God for merging it into some larger Calvinistic body: if that be so I am content." And it is generally admitted that the slow extension of the church is accounted for by a tendency within toward uniting with some other denomination.

THE REVISED CONSTITUTION.

The vote of the various classes on the revised constitution will also be received at the meeting of the synod, the draft of it having been previously adopted and sent to the minor bodies of the church for consideration. If the vote be favorable the synod will act finally upon it. It proposes no fundamental, but only incidental and minor changes of no general interest, such as the reorganization of the boards of superintendents of the theological seminaries, &c.

EDUCATIONAL—RUTGERS COLLEGE.

The synod has charge of the theological seminaries at Holland, Mich., and in this city, and also of Hope College in the former place. Rutgers has a separate board of trustees, but yet is recognized as a Reformed Church institution. A committee appointed last year will report on their work of raising funds for the establishment of a fifth professorship at the New-Brunswick Seminary. President Campbell will also, it is understood, push an endowment fund for Rutgers College. It is just now in temporary straits, and needs money badly. It is keeping abreast of collegiate progress, and this requires an unusual expenditure of money. It has received over $400,000 in the last few years, but as much more could be well spent. THE TIMES, in noticing editorially its cramped condition some time ago, was misunderstood at the college, and the authorities were very indignant at your remarks. Rutgers College has a distinct place among American institutions, and could not be spared from the list, even if there are too many colleges. Not only is it in especial favor with the Reformed Church, but it is distinctively a New-Jersey college. Princeton's reputation was formerly South, and is still to a great extent; while Rutgers' name is established within the State, and along the Hudson River in New-York State, and is now extending. It has a proud history, and the endurance which comes from strength of old associations is strong. It has come through long years of poverty, and is just now passing a crisis through which the energy of its President will bring it past triumphantly, and it has under its care the State Scientific School. These few words, because I know THE TIMES meant me no injustice in its recent "Minor Topic." I may add, that it augurs well for Rutgers' future that the accession of Dr. Van Zandt to the chief professorship of the Theological Seminary, has healed the old dissension, at one time quite bitter, between that institution and the college. The theological professors now take turns in preaching in the college chapel. The college and seminary were under one government until ten years ago, when considerations of economy induced their final separation.

DOMESTIC MISSIONS.

The very gratifying report will be made to the synod, that the Board of Domestic Missions is now out of debt for the first time in six years. This has been accomplished by a special effort of the Secretary, and will be very welcome news, now first made public, to the church at large.

An Ohio postmaster has received a letter wherein the writer proffers a curious request, as follows: "If you can & will ascertain the names of Some rich old maid or widow worth from 5 thousand, to 50, ° ° ° or more let me know by return mail and I will pitch in and if I make it tie the Knot, it is a 1 hundred dollars in your pocket Keep this a profound secret between us two if it gets out all is spoiled I am your but want to marry rich."

Mr. T. A. Goodwin, an Indianapolis real estate agent and broker, reports upon his return home from this City, that as he was searching for a seat in the car here, several "gentlemen" who were standing in the aisle made a rush for the door, crowding him into a corner and relieving him of his pocket-book and watch in an instant. When he recovered from his astonishment the cars were going at too great a speed to give him an oportunity to pursue them.

Frightful Death of a Franco-American.

The London Times of May 5 says: "Mr. Carttar, Coroner, held an inquiry on Saturday, at the Half Moon Inn, Charlwood, into the circumstances attending the death of Louis Brahe, a Franco-American. It appeared that the deceased, who was on his way from New-York to Paris, was a passenger by the boat train which leaves Victoria for Newhaven at 7¾ P. M., and passes through Horley. A luggage labeler put him into a third-class compartment at Victoria, and at Croydon he was seen to be fast asleep and alone in the compartment. At Newhaven the doors on both sides of the compartment were found to be properly fastened, though the windows were down. No one was in the carriage, and two rugs and an overcoat belonging to the deceased were lying on the seat. The body of the deceased, fearfully mutilated, was afterward picked up on the line near Horley Station. A watch, some gold studs, and about 14 shillings in English money, besides some American five-cent pieces, were upon him. He became conscious for a few moments, and gave Drs. Farwell and Chessal, who attended him, his name and address. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that deceased died from injuries received on the London and Brighton Railway. The body has not been identified, and will be buried in the Charlwood Churchyard this afternoon."

A Riot in Bombay.

A strange story, says the Pall Mall Gazette, comes from Bombay. Near the Towers of Silence, on whose summits the Parsis expose their dead by way of restoring the earthy fabric to the supernal elements, lies a piece of ground to which their community asserts a claim. Certain persons having obtained possession of it as the rightful owners, determined to build upon it, and ran up huts and sheds for the workmen. The lower order of Parsis worked themselves into a religious frenzy, seized upon the disputed ground in considerable force, and after a fight with bludgeons smashed everything they could lay hands on. Reinforcements of the police having arrived, the rioters shut themselves up in the Towers of Silence, and swore they would kill the first person who dared to enter the holy place. The Commissioner of Police, however, forced the doors, captured the garrison to the number of eighty, and marched them off in irons to jail. The total number of persons seized in overt riot is reported by the papers to exceed 130.

Return of the Atlantic and Pacific Excursion.

The party of capitalists from this City and Boston, who have been visiting the far West under the auspices of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway, returned to New-York yesterday morning, all in good health and spirits. They were absent twelve days, during which time they traveled over 3,600 miles of railway. The return trip was made along the line of the Ohio and Mississippi, and Baltimore and Ohio Railways, whose agents treated the party with distinguished courtesy. Herr Seligman, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Frank, and several other capitalists, remained in the West, with a view to speculating in the rich mineral lands of Missouri.

Death of a Countess in a Pullman Car.

From the Chicago Post, May 16.

In a Pullman palace-car, near Aurora, yesterday afternoon, a Franco-American Countess fell beneath the sudden stroke of death. It was the young and charming Comtesse de Pourtales-Gorgier, wife of the Count of that name, attaché of the French Legation at the national capital. The lady was married nearly four years ago, and leaves one child, a daughter, aged eighteen months. The health of deceased had not been good for the last year, and, accompanied by her husband and child, she had been visiting her father, Benjamin Holliday, of Oregon, the great Pacific Slope stage line owner. The indisposition of the Comtesse induced her physicians to prescribe Switzerland for the Summer months, and thither she was bound. The party left Portland one week ago. At Ogden the patient was attacked by bilious fever. She grew gradually worse, and Dr. Bowles, of Mendota, who was called to see her, pronounced the case hopeless. It was expected that she might reach Chicago, where the highest professional aid might be had. She died apparently without pain. H. B. Ledyard, Assistant Superintendent of the Burlington and Quincy Railroad, was telegraphed to, and had a hearse and undertaker awaiting the remains at the depot. The body was removed to the Sherman House and was forwarded to New-York, where it will be interred this morning. The husband is completely borne down by the shock. The Comtesse was only twenty-two years of age, and was as fascinating in manner as she was beautiful in person.

Funeral of Port Warden Leggett.

The funeral of Mr. Samuel Leggett, of this City, took place at Woodlawn Cemetery yesterday, in the presence of about 1,000 persons, including a very large representation of the Masonic fraternity. The funeral services, according to the rites of the Protestant Episcopal Church, were performed by Rev. A. M. Ives, Rector of St. John's Church, Tuckahoe, at the close of which the assemblage proceeded in carriages, eighty in number, in the following order, under the command of J. T. Underhill, Grand Marshal of the day: Marble Lodge No. 702, of Tuckahoe, of which the deceased was the Master; Hiawatha Lodge No. 434, of Mount Vernon; Huguenot Lodge No. 448, of New-Rochelle; White Plains Lodge No. 473; Rising Star Lodge No. 450, of Yonkers; Company A, Seventh Regiment National Guard New-York State, and Port Wardens of New-York, under Gen. Robinson. The hearse, containing the remains of the deceased, with Hon. J. C. Courter, Mayor of Yonkers, Dr. Crane, Dr. Nordquist, George Ferris, S. B. Jones, and Charles Hodgman as pall-bearers, and officers of the Yonkers Commandery No. 47, of Knight Templars. Then followed the widow, two daughters and two sons of the deceased, and a large circle of relatives and friends. Among those present was a son of Gov. Dix, an intimate friend of the deceased, together with a number of bankers and merchants of this city.

On reaching the receiving vault at Woodlawn Cemetery the usual impressive Masonic ceremonies were performed by Past District Deputy Grand Master Stephen S. Marshall, of White Plains.

Suicides in Brooklyn.

Two more suicides were reported in Brooklyn yesterday, making four cases of self-destruction which have come to the knowledge of the Coroners since Thursday last. At a late hour on Saturday night, Mr. Hardwick, sixty-five years of age, and residing at No. 106 Nelson-street, while influenced by depression from some unknown cause, drank the contents of a small bottle of laudanum which he had procured. Two hours later he was taken dangerously ill, and although medical aid was promptly procured, he soon became unconscious, and died at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The deceased leaves a small family.

Peter Hippert committed suicide at No. 223 Ellery-street, Brooklyn, at 7¾ o'clock yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor. The deceased had been for some time previously a night-watchman at the sugar refinery of Schroeder & Mollenauer in Rush-street. Recently a small quantity of sugar was stolen from the refinery, and Hippert was accused of the theft and dismissed. He protested innocence, and his denial was believed by his friends, but he failed to obtain employment, and the disgrace greatly depressed him. Yesterday morning he got up early, and in a fit of desperation took a razor from a dressing-table and cut his throat. The wound was not immediately fatal, but he died before the services of a doctor could be procured. Hippert was thirty-five years of age, and was married.

The New Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews.

The new five-story brown-stone and brick building corner of Sixty-third-street and Lexington-avenue, opened and dedicated very recently as a home for aged and infirm Hebrews, is now in excellent order. An informal reception was given to the friends of the institution yesterday by the lady managers. The building will accommodate fifty persons, and the ladies are now comfortably providing for twenty-six aged women and two old and infirm men. The youngest of the inmates cared for is seventy and the oldest ninety-five.

The Home has a handsome suite of parlors, a cheerful dining-room, bright and comfortable apartments, and is supplied with all the modern conveniences.

The initiation of this charitable enterprise dates from the Spring of 1870, originating with Mrs. Henry Leo, now dead. She enlisted the ladies of the Bnai Jeshurun Benevolent Society in the movement, and the small house No. 217 West Seventeenth-street was temporarily rented.

By energetic action the present lady managers have been able to secure possession of the present beautiful and roomy edifice. The most pleasing feature of the Home is the truly domestic character of its surroundings. The lady directors are Mesdames P. J. Joachimsen, President; H. B. Herts, Vice President; Z. Bernstein, Treasurer, and J. Jacobs, H. Morrison, L. Phillips, L. Schlessinger, S. Wolf, and L. Bamberger. Dr. Leo is the Secretary. Mrs. Shannon and Miss Cohen the matrons, and Mr. Jacob Hart and wife superintendents. It was noted yesterday that a large blank-book, handsomely bound in silver, a gift to the ladies, had many of its pages filled with subscriptions in aid of the Home. The managers say that they need many more such donations to bring their charitable project to its full fruition.

WHILE PASTOR OF THE CANTON CHURCH, New-Jersey, some years ago, I temporarily lost my voice, and was, in consequence, unable to preach for nearly a year. Last Spring I began to have all the symptoms of losing it again. I labored with great difficulty, fearing each time I preached would be the last. In July I commenced using Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, at the same time rubbing my throat and chest freely with the Liniment. I gargled my throat daily, according to the directions given in Dr. Jayne's Almanac, at the same time taking the Expectorant regularly. Feeling very much better I discontinued the use of the Gargle and the Liniment, but still kept on with the Expectorant. This Winter I have been more exposed, and preach oftener than for many years past, and yet my voice seems to be growing stronger, and were it not for the requirements of my calling I firmly believe a permanent cure would be effected by the Expectorant. At all events, the good it has done, and is doing me, makes me anxious to recommend it to all who are suffering from Throat or Lung Complaints.—*Rev. W. Pike, Lakeville, Washington County, N. For All Localities and Climes.
A true specific is adapted to all localities and climes, and for this reason, that it strikes at the causative principle of the disease which it is administered to cure. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, for example, is a true specific, not only because it fortifies the body against the external influences which prompt disease, but because, when taken as a remedy instead of as a preventive, it neutralizes the infective principle in the blood and thereby destroys the primary source of the ailment. Hence as an antidote to epidemic disorders, and to all complaints which are produced or aggravated by miasma, or the presence of anything deleterious in the air, the water, or the soil, it is as nearly infallible as any medicinal preparation can be. In our own country, as a remedy for intermittent fevers, bilious affections, constipation, dyspepsia, nervous weakness, rheumatism, and general debility, it is unrivaled, nor is it less celebrated in the tropics as a preventive of malarious fevers.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

The total value of real estate sold at auction at the Exchange, for the week ending with Saturday, May 17, amounts to $781,100, as against the sum of $[illegible], the figures for the previous week, ending with Saturday, May 10. This large aggregate, however, is due entirely to the fact that on Wednesday several large legal sales were consummated, and not to any special activity in business, for on that day the five lots, with buildings, on Broadway, north-east corner of Twenty-first-street, owned by William M. Tweed, were sold under foreclosure by Muller, Wilkins & Co. for $[illegible]. Property belonging to Walter Roche, to the value of $[illegible], was sold under the direction of trustees by William Kennelly; and a property on East Fifty-eighth-street, between Third and Lexington avenues, containing eight lots with buildings thereon, [illegible] by A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co. for $[illegible]. Auction business on the remaining days of the week has been dull. The market generally, however, has been better, private sales being more numerous, with firmness maintained as to prices, and during the present week we look for considerable activity. The building record, as published on Saturday, shows also an improvement, making a gratifying exhibit in the growth of the City. In Brooklyn the market is particularly dull, and no sales, either public or private, have been reported during the week. The suburban auction business sets in under the most favorable auspices, for all the sales held during the week have met with success and country property to the aggregate to the value of $[illegible] has been disposed of, the sales made being as follows: Tuesday, May 13, at Queens, Long Island, [illegible] lots sold by Jere. Johnson, Jr., for $12,560. Same day at Tremont, Westchester County, two lots, sold by Hugh N. Camp for $640. Thursday, May 15, at Long Island City, sixty-nine lots sold by Johnson for $[illegible], and same day Belmont, N. J., seventy-four plots sold by O. H. Pierson & Co. for $5,750, a good week's business in this line. We would call particular attention to the suburban auctions announced for to-day, as well as for the balance of the week, as noted below.

J. M. Gibson reports having sold at auction at Jersey City, N. J., on Thursday, May 15, a plot of ground, 50 by 55, on the north-east corner of York and Van Vorst streets for $6,475; purchaser, H. Glelstein, of this City.

THIS WEEK'S PROPOSED AUCTIONS.

The sales for the present week are of very much greater importance than usual, both those to occur at the Exchange as well as elsewhere, as will be seen by a reference to following announcements:

To-Day, (Monday,) May 19.

By E. H. Ludlow & Co., at the Exchange, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Alfred T. Ackert, Esq., referee, of eight lots on East Sixty-sixth-street, south side, 100 feet east of Madison-avenue, in size each 25 by 100.5. On this property some $25,000 has already been expended in improvements.

By R. V. Harnett, at the Exchange, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Frank Rudd, Esq., referee, of a house and lot on East Sixteenth-street, north side, 200 feet east of Avenue B, lot 25 by 92.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., at Astoria, Long Island City, on the property, at 1½ o'clock, public auction sale, by order of Messrs. Stevens, of 150 choice building lots, all centrally located, near steam-boat landings, situated respectively on Sunswick-terrace, the Crescent, Jamaica, Van Alst, and Ely avenues, Broadway, Sherman, Academy, Lockwood, Temple, Elm, Lincoln, and Cornelia streets; also, fourteen lots and plots around Alexander H. Stevens, surrounding his residence—the whole being one of the finest collections of property ever offered for sale in this vicinity. Terms liberal. Excursion steam-boat from Peck-slip at 1 o'clock. Free tickets at auctioneer's office, No. 21 Park-row.

By A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., at Pamrapo, in the City of Bayonne, N. J., on the ground, at 1½ P. M., executors' sale, by order of the executors of the estate of James Currie, deceased, of 125 desirable lots in the Third Ward of the City named, fronting respectively on Forty-fifth, Forty-sixth, Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets and Avenues C and D, within four minutes' walk from the Pamrapo Station, on the Central Railroad, and distant but thirty minutes from Wall-street, this City. The property lies on streets opened, with sidewalks flagged and curbed, with first-class improvements on all sides. Special trains from foot of Liberty-street at 1 o'clock. Maps of estate and excursion tickets at office of auctioneers, No. 6 Pine-street.

By Hugh N. Camp, at Nyack, on the Hudson River, on the premises, at 1 o'clock, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Henry E. Davies, Jr., Esq., referee, of a house and lot.

By Joseph Warren, at Hudson City, N. J., on the property, at 2 o'clock, public auction sale of a tract of land, two acres in extent, with buildings fronting on Palisade, Laidlaw and Hoboken avenues.

To-Morrow, (Tuesday,) May 20.

By Muller, Wilkins & Co., at the Exchange, public auction sale, by order of heirs, under direction of Henry Nicoll, Esq., attorney, of 127 elegant City lots, owned by the Bradhurst estate, embracing the two entire blocks bounded by St. Nicholas and Tenth avenues, One Hundred and Forty-seventh and One Hundred and Forty-ninth streets, including eight additional lots on West One Hundred and Forty-sixth-street, south side, 300 feet east of Tenth-avenue—a sale of special importance, and one which, since its inception, has been looked forward to by all real estate investors with interest. St. Nicholas-avenue is already completed to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth-street, and this, together with other public improvements in progress and projected in the immediate vicinity of this property, adds greatly to its present value as well as prospective worth. The sale is announced as absolute.

By A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., at the Exchange, public auction sale of the following City real estate: One four-story French-flat brown-stone-front house and lot, No. 217 East Eighty-fourth-street, north side, between Second and Third avenues, 21 by 53 by 100.2; one lot, 25 by 95, on First-avenue, east side, between One Hundred and Ninth and One Hundred and Tenth streets, and one four-story brick store and tenement, with lease of lot, No. 1,034 Third-avenue, west side, between Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets, 20 by 80 by 90; the lease has seventeen years to run, with two renewals of twenty years each; present ground-rent $600 per annum. Also, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Luke A. Lockwood, Esq., referee, of a house and lot on Beekman-place, west side, 38 feet north of Mitchell-place, (East Forty-ninth-street,) lot 19 by 80. Also, adjoining, Supreme Court foreclosure resale, Wm. C. Barrett, Esq., referee, of one gore lot, 11.10 by 100.8 by 125 by 159.2, on East Eighty-ninth-street, north side, 125 feet west of Third avenue, and one gore lot, 53.5 by 107 by about 80, on East Ninetieth-street, south side, 300 feet west of Third-avenue.

By E. H. Ludlow & Co., at the Exchange, public auction sale of the three-story and basement brown-stone front house and lot, No. 736 Lexington-avenue, east side, 65.5 feet south of Fifty-ninth-street, 20 by 85 by 85. Also, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Geo. P. Smith, Esq., referee, of the house and lot No. 161 East Sixty-third-street, north side, 180 feet west of Third-avenue, lot 20 by 100.5.

By James M. Miller, at the Exchange, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Wm. H. Leonard, Esq., referee, of a house and lot on East Seventeenth-street, south side, 200.8 feet east of Fourth-avenue, lot 25.3 by 92. Also, adjoining, similar sale, Thomas H. Landon, Esq., referee, of a house with lease of lot, 22.4 by 100, on West Broadway, east side, 40 feet south of White-street and two houses with lease of plot, 50 by 50, on White-street, south side, 30 feet east of West Broadway.

By Oliver Bryan, on the premises at 10 o'clock, public auction sale of one half undivided interest in one lot, 25.7 by 123, on Third avenue, south-east corner of One Hundred and Thirty-fourth-street, with lot in rear, 25 by 100, fronting on One Hundred and Thirty-fourth-street, and with the corner lot forming an L.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., at Hempstead, Long Island, on the property, at 1 o'clock, public auction sale by order of Andrew G. Bennet, Esq., owner, 450 beautifully-located city lots, to be sold in plots, all except two, of from two to six lots each in extent, located on Bennet and Park avenues, Washington-place, Fulton, Clinton, Jackson, and Columbia streets, adjacent to Stewart's new city and in close proximity to the depots of the Long Island, the South side, and the Central Railroads. This property is exceedingly choice, and should sell well. On one plot, containing seven acres of land, is a trout lake, and on another of four acres a large mansion with other buildings, a desirable residence; both of which plots will be offered at the auction. Excursion-train, the first special train over Stewart's new railway from this City via James-slip and Thirty-fourth-street ferries, at 11 o'clock.

By O. H. Pierson & Co., at Wyoming, N. J., on the line of the Morris and Essex Railroad, on the ground, at 12 M., public auction sale of 100 eligibly-located villa-plots, situate on Hillside, Prospect, Wyoming, Walnut, Springfield, Myrtle, and Locust avenues; Cypress, Cedar, Grand, Chestnut, Laurel, and Orchard streets, together with two new and well-finished houses. This is the fourth sale held on this property, (three having taken place last season,) under the auspices of the company owning the same, and the success attending the previous transactions guarantees a favorable result for this auction. The improvements made at this place since its selection as a site for a growing town, have been extensive, and the location is steadily gaining in popularity. Special train, for sale, via Barclay and Christopher-street Ferries at 10½ A. M. Tickets at auctioneer's office, No. 5 Pine-street.

Wednesday, May 21.

By Muller, Wilkins & Co., at the Exchange, executor's resale, by order of the executors of the Harsen estate, on account of a former purchaser, of seven lots, each 25 by 100.5, on West Seventieth-street, north side, 100 feet east of Eleventh-avenue.

By E. H. Ludlow & Co., at the Exchange, foreclosure sale, by order of the Court of Common Pleas, John P. Crosby, Esq., referee, of two lots, each 25.6 by 100, on East Eighty-sixth-street, south side, 332.2 feet west of Third-avenue.

By Wm. Kennelly, at the Exchange, public auction sale of three full lots on East One Hundred and Fourteenth-street, south side, 125 feet east of Third-avenue.

By James M. Miller, at the Exchange, adjourned Supreme Court foreclosure sale of a house and lot, on Avenue B, south-east corner of Twelfth-street; lot 23.3 by 87.6. Also, similar sale, John M. Scribner, Esq., referee, of a house and lot on Forsyth-street, north-east corner of Rivington-street; lot 25.5 by 100.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., on the premises, at 11 o'clock, public auction sale of a lease of two full lots, with building thereon, used as coal-yard, No. 104 West Thirty-ninth-street, between Broadway and Sixth-avenue.

By J. Cole, at the Commercial Exchange, No. 389 Fulton-street, Brooklyn, public auction sale of the two-story and basement frame houses and lots Nos. 928 and 930 Myrtle-avenue, and 123 building lots located respectively on Myrtle, Flushing, and Franklin avenues, and Stillman, Witherspoon, and Bergen streets.

By A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., at Prospect Park, adjoining the City of Paterson, N. J., on the property, at 12½ P. M., absolute public auction sale by order of E. S. Gillie, Esq., owner, of 229 well-located lots situated on Elwood-avenue, Prescott, Jay, Oak, and Chestnut streets, commanding an extensive view of the Passaic River, and directly overlooking the City of Paterson. The property is accessible by three lines of railway and the streets cut through are all graded. Special train by Erie Railroad, from Chambers and Twenty-third streets at 11½ A. M.

By O. H. Pierson & Co., at Newark, N. J., on the premises, at 1 o'clock, continuation sale by order of Arthur Devine, real estate broker, of forty lots located respectively on Hamburg-place, Merchant, Lafayette, and Elm streets. At the sale held on this property two weeks ago forty-seven lots were disposed of at an average of nearly $1,000 apiece.

By ——, auctioneers, at Elizabeth, N. J., at the Court-house at 2 o'clock. Sale by order of the Court of Chancery, of two tracts of land, one of thirteen acres and the other of four acres, located at Cranford, N. J., near Elizabeth.

Thursday, May 22.

By A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., at the Exchange, trustees' sale, under the direction of Messrs. Henry Clausen, Jr., and Adolf Levinger, trustees, of 101 desirable east-side lots, with valuable water-fronts, located on Avenues A and B, Seventy-first, Seventy-second, Seventy-third, and Seventy-fourth streets. A most important auction, for the lots not being high priced, so termed, superior opportunities for investment are presented. Terms liberal. Sale announced as absolute, without any reserve whatever.

By E. H. Ludlow & Co., at the Exchange, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Alfred T. Ackert, Esq., referee, of the store, building, and lease of lot No. 60 Murray street, north side, about 100 feet west of College-place; lot 25 by 100; lease dated July 1, 1868; term 42 years.

By Wm. Kennelly, at the Exchange, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, Geo. P. Smith, Esq., referee, of a plot of land, 99.4 by 125, two buildings thereon, situated on First-avenue, north-east corner of Thirty-seventh-street.

By Hugh N. Camp, at the Exchange, 112 City lots, located at New-Brighton, Staten Island, and situated on Tompkins and Central avenues, taking in the entire block between Arietta street and a new street to be opened. One of the finest and most desirable locations for either residences or business on the island, being on high ground, overlooking New-York Bay, and within two minutes' walk of the ferry. The lots will be sold in plots of from one to eight City lots in extent.

By A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., at Orange, N. J., on the property, at 3½ o'clock, public auction sale, without reserve, of twenty-six choice building plots, each 50 by 100, fronting on Maple and Elmwood avenues, Clinton, Norwood, and Halsted streets, near Brick Church and Junction Railway Stations, in the midst of first-class improvements. Terms of sale only twenty per cent. cash, balance mortgage for three years. Parties desirous of being present at auction will take train from foot of Barclay-street at 2½ o'clock.

By O. H. Pierson & Co., at Newark, N. J., on the premises, at 1½ o'clock, public auction sale of 31 desirable building lots located on Frelinghuysen-avenue, and a house and lot known as No. 77 Wright-street.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., at Queens, Long Island, on the ground, at 1 o'clock, executors' sale of 250 handsomely-situated lots near railway depot and adjoining the property owned by Col. A. M. Wood, sold by Mr. Johnson last week. Special train, via James-slip and Thirty-fourth-street Ferries, at 11¼ A. M.; Hunter's Point, 12 o'clock.

Friday, May 23.

CITY REAL ESTATE.

15 EAST 49TH-ST., NEAR 5TH-AV.

For sale, in 49th-st., just east of 5th av., a beautiful four-story brown stone house 17x60 feet. Has been recently overhauled in the most thorough manner; the plumbing-work, mantels, &c., being all new and of the best quality, and is tastefully decorated; lot 100.5 feet in depth.

The owner will sell the house with the handsome fixtures and furniture, or the house and lot can be bought without the furniture. We would recommend it to the attention of any one desiring to purchase an attractive house in the best location in New York, at a very reasonable price. To a professional man it would be especially desirable. A comparatively small amount of cash to be paid down.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

FIRST-CLASS COUNTRY RESIDENCE FOR SALE.

The homestead of the late A. G. Hazard, in the centre of the beautiful town of Enfield, Conn., about nine miles from Springfield, and seventeen miles from Hartford. It comprises about forty-five acres of land fronting on Enfield-st., and all the buildings desirable for a gentleman's residence; is situated near churches, schools and post-office, and about a mile from the Springfield and Hartford Railroad Depot. The location is healthful and pleasant, and only a half mile distant from the Enfield Rapids, on the Connecticut River. The grounds are handsomely laid out and well supplied with fruit and ornamental trees, hedges, and greenhouses. The land is in a high state of cultivation. The house is of brick, stuccoed; has foundations, underpinning, and trimmings; is comparatively new, and in perfect repair; built in the most thorough and substantial manner; elegantly finished; has all the modern conveniences and improvements; contains twenty-five good-sized rooms, two furnaces, bath-rooms, &c., and has hot and cold water carried into every part of the house. It has but few equals as a desirable country residence for a gentleman's family.

The out-buildings are abundant and complete. The furniture of the house, stock, &c., will be sold, if desired. More than $150,000 cash has been expended on this property, and it will be sold at a very great sacrifice, on easy terms, or will exchange for satisfactory securities. HEMPSTEAD,

LONG ISLAND,
LOVELIEST VILLAGE OF THE PLAINS.

No fancy pen may write thy charms, fair Hempstead
Thou loveliest village of the plain.
A home like thine of calm and peaceful beauty,
Elsewhere man's weary soul may seek in vain.
Poets may sing the glory and the grandeur
That dwell in ocean, or on mountains reign,
But vain is art to paint the placid splendor
Of flower-clad prairie and the smiling plain.
Then come, ye busy toilers of the City,
To rest and peace, to pleasantness and health,
Where family joys may soothe your cares of business,
And happy homes reward your well-earned wealth.

TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

GREAT CLOSING OUT TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY, Belonging to the
CHICAGO LAND COMPANY,
AT PUBLIC AUCTION,
ON WEDNESDAY,
THE 18TH DAY OF JUNE, 1873.

By the articles of the association of said company, it is provided that all the property in the hands of the trustees in the month of June, 1873, must be sold at auction for cash, to close the trust.

The realty is centrally located in the CITY OF CHICAGO, and is valued at $1,300,000, and composed largely of river and canal frontage, docked and ready for immediate use. Also, a large number of vacant lots in the immediate vicinity of the docks, all well adapted for business purposes.

The title to this property is unquestioned, having been held and owned by the association for twenty years.

The personal property consists of notes bearing seven per cent. interest, having from one to five years to run, and amounting to about $700,000. These notes were received for deferred payments on land bought from the company by the makers thereof, and their payment is secured by mortgage on the same. TERMS OF SALE CASH. The personal property will be ready for transfer and delivery immediately after the sale. Purchasers of realty will be required to make a deposit on the day of sale of ten per cent. on the amount of their purchases, the balance to be paid within thirty days, or as soon after the sale as deeds can be made out and delivered.

PEREMPTORY PARTITION SALE

OF

464 VALUABLE LOTS,

AND
FIVE PRETTY AND WELL-BUILT HOUSES,
AT

WHITESTONE, L. I.,

TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION,

By order of THE WHITESTONE LAND ASSOCIATION, (John J. Locke, Conrad Poppenhusen, Henry Hurd, John D. Locke, Adolph Poppenhusen, and E. B. Hinsdale,)

Under the direction of
GEO. W. VAN SICLEN, Esq., Attorney, on
THURSDAY, MAY 29, 1873,
At 12 o'clock, at the
EXCHANGE SALES-ROOM,
No. 111 Broadway, (Trinity Building,) New-York,
by
ADRIAN H. MULLER, P. R. WILKINS & CO.,
Auctioneers.

Book maps and passes to visit the property at the office of the Auctioneers, No. 7 Pine-st., New-York.

Whitestone, Long Island, is nine miles by road, eleven miles by railroad from Hunter's Point; it is the terminus of the excellent Flushing and North-side Railroad. Running time, from twenty-seven to thirty-five minutes to Hunter's Point; thirty-five to forty minutes to 34th-st., New-York; fifty to sixty minutes to James-slip, (double-deck ferry-boats Garden City and Southampton.) Thirty-nine trains daily, from 5:50 A. M. to 12:15 midnight; elegant cars; foot-warmer under each seat; steam brakes, Miller's platforms, steel rails, elastic wheels, safety switches; RUN IN THE INTEREST OF ITS PASSENGERS; always on time; never delayed by ice or snow.

Whitestone is actually more accessible to business, and by pleasanter travel, than 70th-st., New-York. It is on the Sound, with splendid water-front, and can be reached by boat in an hour from Peck-slip. It is nearer the City Hall than Fort Washington and the upper cars of New-York City. As near as Newark and Elizabeth.

The village was incorporated in 1869, and is growing rapidly. The streets are laid out according to a map adopted by the trustees, and filed in the County Clerk's office at Jamaica. The streets on which these lots are offered are nearly all sewered, curbed, guttered, and macadamized.

High, rolling ground, with excellent water, well drained, and healthy; no more subject to "chills and fever" or "fever and ague" than New-York itself. The main sewer through the premises offered is over a mile long, emptying into the East River.

The village contains Episcopal, Catholic, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches, public and private schools, factories, savings bank; Herald Whitestone telegraph; over 2,500 inhabitants, with over 15,000 within a radius of three miles; and is perfectly convenient to the City for calls, shopping, concerts or theatre.

COMMUTATION, ferriage included, is only 12½ cents each way; AND THE RAILROAD AGREES TO GIVE A COMMUTATION BOOK TO HUNTER'S POINT FOR ONE YEAR, FREE, to the occupant of each new house costing more than $2,000, and built before May, 1874. This privilege, of course, holds good to each person who buys at this sale. Whitestone has long been famous for its beautiful scenery, fine drives, boating, and sailing. It combines City pleasures with country comforts.

It is an excellent point of investment. Over $120,000 worth of lots SURROUNDING THE PROPERTY OFFERED TO-DAY, were sold between June and November, 1872, mostly to parties intending to build and remain permanently. Houses are springing up on every side. Living is cheap—cheaper than in the City. Five houses will be offered, either of which will make a good home. Taxes are very light. Village taxes are limited by charter to one-half of one per cent. on the valuation. Every lot sold will be subject to covenants against nuisances and liquor-stores.

This is a bona-fide partition sale, and every parcel offered will be sold to the highest bidder. Full covenant warranty deeds will be given. Printed abstracts of title can be obtained at $5 each, from Van Siclen, Gildersleeve & Baldwin, Esqs., Counselors-at-law, Bennett Building, Nos. 93 and 99 Nassau-st.

TERMS: Ten per cent. down; fifteen per cent. on June 29; balance on mortgage for three years; five per cent. discount from face of mortgage for cash.

FURNITURE.

THE ICE KING REFRIGERATOR

Medal of special award at American Institute Exposition, 1872, and all the principal Expositions and Fairs throughout the United States.

THE ICE KING.

Is the only Refrigerator in the world. It is a PRESERVER, not a consumer, like others that bear the name of refrigerator. It will keep every description of perishable food longer, dryer, and better than any other now in use, and will not consume half the amount of ice. The following are some of its advantages over all others: 1st. It saves fifty per cent. of ice over all other refrigerators; 2d. With the Ice King I can freeze a pan of water into solid ice in a very few hours. 3d. It produces a dry, cold temperature in the provision chamber. 4th. It will produce a temperature of 18° below freezing point in the warmest day of Summer. 5th. One article will not partake of the taste or smell of the other. 6th. The refrigerator is divided into two separate and distinct compartments. 7th. The Ice King is one of the best refrigerators for cooling wine. 8th. Combined with the refrigerator is one of the finest water-coolers in the world. 9th. The provision chamber can easily be kept sweet and clean, as it has no drippings from the ice. 10th. It costs no more than the ordinary refrigerator, and is manufactured into all sizes, suitable for hotels, restaurants, saloons, steam-boats, grocers, butchers, and family purposes. The Ice King can now be seen in operation at

NEW-YORK CITY NEWS.

THE POSTAL CARDS.

How They are Being Used—Improvement in the Mode of Delivery.

The novelty of the new postal cards naturally led to a rapid and enormous sale of the little bits of salmon-colored paste-board, for everybody wanted to try the new system and see how it worked. Shrewd advertisers seized the opportunity to scatter over the entire City announcements of their wares, with much profit, no doubt, to themselves, as the cards attracted attention because of their freshness. Business men used the cards as an experiment, and even staid, sober-minded people were infected by the fever, and dispatched a few "postals" out of mere curiosity. Mischievous pranks were of course played by wicked people, who sent mysterious messages to friends or acquaintances, while others having grievances to ventilate sent them to newspapers on postal cards.

One gentleman, having seen a person narrowly miss being run over while leaving a street-car, sent the following card to THE TIMES:

> Getting on and off horse-cars while in motion is a risky thing; and to obviate, in some degree, the danger, the left side entrance to the platform should be closed. In getting on or off the right (or starboard) side, you are not so liable to get run over by cars coming in the opposite direction, as you avoid crossing the track, and are also nearer the sidewalk. Close the left, or larboard side or entrance, therefore.

We publish it as another hint to the railroad companies, though, as they usually turn a deaf ear to the complaints of the public, it is doubtful that our postal-card correspondent will be heeded.

A reader of THE TIMES also adopted the postal card as the vehicle for uttering his views about the dusty streets of the City. He wrote thus:

> While it rained so persistently we waded through mud and mire. Now that the sun shines, the wind sends clouds of blinding dust into our faces. I saw men gathering the mud into heaps the other day, but these piles were suffered to remain untouched until the wind scattered them again as dust.

Here the writer came to the end of his card, and had, perforce, to stop. A practical man sent a card to THE TIMES with the following note:

> These cards will be very handy if promptly delivered.

As this card came to the office by hand very soon after the sale of postal cards commenced at the post-office, the suggestion was obvious, so it was determined to ascertain how the postal-card delivery was being carried on. To this end twelve postal cards were purchased and distributed among THE TIMES reporters, with directions to send them to each other, at the same time noting the time and place of sending, and the time when received. All of these cards are now before the writer, duly numbered per original schedule and scribbled over with pencil notes specifying the hour of departure and receipt. From them a very fair idea can be gained of the local post-office system.

Card number one, bearing the words, "Much obliged for the package," was dropped in the street letter-box at the corner of Fourteenth-street and Irving-place, on Wednesday morning at 1 o'clock. It was taken out by the carrier on his first tour, and duly stamped as received at the General Post-office at 10:30 A. M., and it was delivered at its destination in South Oxford-street, Brooklyn, at 2:45 P. M. same day.

Card number two was dated Wednesday, and addressed to Rutgers-place, in this City. It carried the message, "Will start by the 3 o'clock train to-day." The sender dropped his card in a box in the City Hall Park in ample time for the 8 o'clock tour of the collector, who was so prompt in his movements that it was stamped at the office as received 8:30 A. M., and the gentleman to whom it was addressed received it at 10:15, or two hours and a quarter from the time it came into the hands of the carrier.

Card number three was addressed to Prospect-street, Brooklyn, and dropped into the mail-box in THE TIMES counting-room at 7 A. M. It went to the post-office an hour later, bearing the message, "Come over to-night at 7 sure." The card was stamped at 10:30 A. M., and sent across the river in time to be post-marked in Brooklyn at 12 M. It was, however, not delivered in Prospect-street until 3:34 P. M., a delay probably due to the negligence of the carrier, for he was seen to run back nearly three blocks to drop the card, having, no doubt, overlooked it on his route. Still it was delivered in time to be of use had the message been genuine.

Card number four was sent to Livingston-place, in this City on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock from THE TIMES box with the message: "Meet me at father's store, 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon." The post-office stamp was affixed at 6 P. M., and the card was delivered at its destination at 8:30 the next morning.

Card number five was dispatched from a box in Union-street, Brooklyn, bearing the following message: "Can you come to dinner Sunday? Answer by Friday P. M." The Brooklyn Post-office stamped the card at 11 A. M., and it was delivered at its destination in Prince-street, New-York, at 5:15 P. M. same day. The receiver sent another card in answer that evening from THE TIMES office, and it was received at 2 P. M. the next day, being post marked in New-York at 9:30 and in Brooklyn at 11:30 o'clock.

Card number six was dropped into a street-box in Brooklyn, near the Fulton Ferry, at 8 o'clock on Wednesday morning, addressed to Eldridge-street, New-York, bearing the message, "Cannot go, as my wife is sick." It was no doubt taken out on the early morning tour, for it bears the Brooklyn post-mark dated 11 A. M., and was delivered at its destination at 5:25 P. M. same day. It is a noticeable fact that while the cards sent from New-York to Brooklyn were stamped in both cities, those coming from Brooklyn bear no record of the hour when they were received in New-York.

Card number seven was directed to a gentleman in East Twentieth-street, in this City, carrying the following note: "Letter received all right." It was dropped into a lamp mail-box in the Bowery, near Grand-street, by the sender, at midnight, as he was on his way home. The card was taken out on the 8 o'clock tour, Wednesday, morning, for it was stamped at the sub-office No. 382 Grand-street, and known as Station B, at 8 A. M. It was then sent to Station D, in the Bible House, and stamped at 9 A. M., and was delivered at its destination at 11 o'clock.

Card number eight bore the message, "You are quite right; will have the error corrected in time;" and was addressed to East Fifty-third-street, near First avenue. Having been dropped into a box at Chatham-square about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, the card reached the General Office in Nassau-street in time to be stamped at 8:30 A. M., and it was duly delivered up-town at 1:10 P. M. the same day.

Card number nine was sent to Second-street, near Grand, in Brooklyn, E. D., (Williamsburg,) with the message, "Come at 4 P. M., to-morrow." Being dropped into a box at the corner of Third-avenue and Eleventh-street, in this City, about 4 o'clock in the morning, the card was taken out on the first round of collection, and reached the down-town office to be stamped at 10:30 A. M. It was then sent over to Brooklyn, and reached its destination in Williamsburg at 3:55 P. M., the same day.

Card number ten was dropped into a box near the Jersey City ferry in Cortlandt-street, directed to THE TIMES Office, and carried this message, "Have my trunk checked to Washington." It was received at the post-office and stamped 11 A. M., just forty minutes after it was deposited in the box, and delivered at its address, in Broadway, near Canal-street, at 1:20 P. M. same day.

Card number eleven was addressed to Waverley-place, near Washington Parade Ground, in this City, carrying this message: "I have arrived in town." It was placed in the same box as number five, in Union-street, Brooklyn, and at the same time. Like its fellow, the card was stamped in the Brooklyn Office, at 11 A. M., and reached the person to whom it was addressed at 5:55 P. M. that day, about forty minutes after card number five was delivered in Prince-street.

Card number twelve was taken over to Brooklyn in the early morning and dropped into a box near the Atlantic-avenue Ferry. The card carried the message, "I will be there without fail." and was directed to East Eleventh-street, near Third-avenue. It reached the Brooklyn Post-office at 10:30, as is shown by the stamp, and was received at 5:30 P. M. the same day.

It will thus be seen that the delivery of these twelve cards was prompt enough to cover the necessities of the messages, and earlier than has hitherto been the case. But the time could be still more shortened, for with a thorough revision of the carrier system, cards might be delivered so promptly as to be a great help to business men, and a positive convenience to everybody.

END OF A TRAGEDY.

The Funeral of Michael Nixon—A Sunday Scene in the Sixth Ward.

The final scene of the terrible tragedy in Chatham-square last January was yesterday brought to a close by the funeral of Nixon, the murderer of Phyfer, from his late residence, No. 44 Baxter-street. The apartments occupied by Nixon's family are on the second floor of a frame house, the entrance to which, as well as to about a dozen other miserable tenement-houses, is through a narrow alley-way. The houses are occupied by colored people and the lowest classes of whites, and the locality is undoubtedly one of the worst and filthiest to be found in the City. The rickety old rookeries styled tenement-houses literally swarm with human beings, and the air of the place is polluted and sickening, disseminating disease and death around.

The remains of Nixon were removed to his wife's residence, Friday evening, and prepared for burial. The body was enveloped in a religious habit of brown serge, faced with white, the dress of the order to which he had been admitted before his execution. A collar and neck-tie encircled the dead man's neck, hiding all traces of the marks left by the rope; and a cross of artificial flowers was laid on the breast. The pictures in the poorly-furnished apartment were covered with sable wrappings, bearing large white crosses, and a candelabrum, holding lighted tapers and draped in mourning, stood at the head of the corpse. The body was inclosed in a handsome rose-wood coffin, silver-mounted, a cruciform-shaped plate, on the lid of which bore the following inscription:

MICHAEL NIXON,
Died May 16, 1873,
Aged 34 years.

The features of the dead man were perfectly natural, and did not indicate in the slightest degree the violent nature of his death. From the moment the body was placed on exhibition until it was taken out for burial yesterday, the friends of the deceased and those living in the locality continued to throng the wretched dwelling, notwithstanding the efforts of policemen stationed in the alley-way to keep out the crowd. Many came in an honest endeavor to sympathize with the grief-stricken widow, but the great majority intruded themselves to gratify a morbid curiosity.

Notwithstanding that the visitors were mainly composed of the worst characters in the Sixth Ward, it is satisfactory to learn that they conducted themselves most decorously and with unusual sobriety, as testified to by the police officers in attendance.

The rush on Friday and Saturday to see the remains of the murderer faded into utter insignificance when compared with that of yesterday. At an early hour in the forenoon the sidewalks in the vicinity became impassable, and it would seem as though every man, woman, and child in the ward had congregated to witness some joyous event. The people, who were all in Sunday costume, jostled each other to obtain a position near the alley-way, and the nuisance at length became so great that a section of police had to be sent for, who took up their positions, and tried to keep back the crowd. A deputation of the dead man's friends were stationed at the entrance to the narrow passage, who closely scrutinized each applicant for admission, and let none but the friends of the family pass. Even with this restriction, the stream of people entering and departing was continuous. As the hour announced for the funeral approached, the crowd became still more dense, and the wagons and lamp-posts in the vicinity swarmed with the future politicians of the Sixth Ward. Every window, roof, or balcony of the filthy tenement-houses along the street was alive with spectators anxious to get even a glimpse of the coffin, who indulged in jests and laughter while awaiting the departure of the procession. It was truly amazing to see the anxiety displayed by these people to obtain a view of the funeral of a man whose only notoriety had been caused by his infamy, and who had just expiated a horrible crime on the gallows.

The scene around the dead man's remains was sad and painful in the extreme. The grief-stricken widow, clad in decent mourning, and bearing in her arms an infant of six weeks old, stood at the head of the coffin, sobbing piteously and refusing all consolation. She repeatedly kissed the forehead of the deceased, weeping bitterly and praying fervently. The two other children, an interesting boy and girl, stood near and laughed gayly, not comprehending the terrible fate of their father. When the undertaker arrived the cries of the widow were heart-rending, and she had to be forcibly removed from the side of the coffin ere it could be screwed down.

At 2½ the casket was brought down the rickety stairway and placed in a hearse drawn by four white horses, and the procession began to form. The excitement in the vicinity had now reached its climax, and the street for blocks around was one surging mass of humanity. No clergyman was in attendance, although it was stated that Father Duranquet, who attended Nixon up to the time of his execution, would be present. About seventy men in the neighborhood marched two deep immediately after the hearse, wearing badges containing the words, "We mourn our loss," covered with crape, on the left breast. From this it would appear that the deceased had been a member of some organization, but men wearing the badges denied that they belonged to such. A coach containing the wife and children of Nixon followed, and the remaining portion of the funeral procession consisted of eighteen coaches and wagons. The funeral started up Baxter-street to Canal, and after traversing Mulberry and Bayard, returned through Baxter, Worth, and Pearl streets to Chatham, the object being, it is said, to carry the remains all through the Sixth Ward, where the deceased was so well known. The procession passed up East Broadway to the Grand-street Ferry, en route to Calvary Cemetery.

On arriving at the cemetery, the body was taken into the church, where the usual funeral services were performed by Rev. Father Joyce, the clergyman stationed there. The remains were then taken to the plot where Nixon's child lies buried—No. 13, section 8, range 41—and in a few minutes the grave closed over the remains of Michael Nixon, the murderer of Chas. S. Phyfer.

Anniversary of the Fourteenth-Street Presbyterian Church.

The twenty-second anniversary of the organization of the Fourteenth-street Presbyterian Church was the occasion, yesterday, of special services, morning and evening, at the church, of an entertaining character. This church was organized by the union of the Brainard Presbyterian Church (Rivington-street) and the Sixth-street Presbyterian Church, and called the Fourteenth-street Presbyterian Church. The first services were held May 18, 1851, and the first sermon, preached by Rev. Dr. Asa Smith, the first pastor, now President of Dartmouth College. The congregation since the organization of the church have had but three pastors, Rev. E. W. Hitchcock (now of the American Chapel, Paris,) succeeding Rev. Dr. Smith, and being himself succeeded by Rev. Robert Sloss, the present minister, about a year ago. The church is now one of the strongest and most prosperous of the Presbyterian charges in the City.

Yesterday morning, at 10½ o'clock, Rev. Asa D. Smith, D. D., preached from first Timothy, first chapter, fifteenth verse, a sermon appropriate to the occasion. In the evening, at 6¾, a "young people's service of praise" was held, which was largely attended, and at 7½, a general reunion service was had, the church being, as at the morning service, filled with a large congregation. The exercises consisted in singing by the choir and children of the Sunday-school, and in brief addresses by present and former members of the church. Mr. Wm. A. Booth presided and made a few brief remarks, and was followed by Rev. Dr. Smith, who referred to the early history of the church, its early struggles and present prosperity, and said he was proud to say that it had been the means of sending forth fifty ministers to preach the Gospel to perishing souls in this and in foreign lands. Rev. Dr. Smith spoke in feeling terms of some of the earlier members of the church, now deceased, and paid a touching tribute to their memory. In conclusion, he said though the church was weak and feeble in the beginning, they had since been abundantly blessed, and should continue to be faithful, and by and by they could look back upon their work, and thank God they had been permitted to be pilgrims upon earth, burden-bearers, and laborers for the kingdom of their Lord.

Mr. C. B. Robert spoke of the early history of the Brainard Church, which was first dedicated in 1837, and in later years merged into the Fourteenth-street Church. In 1837 the Brainard Church was composed of sixteen members, and their aggregate wealth would not exceed $25,000. Of these sixteen members but two were now living.

Mr. Kingsbury said his recollections of the Sixth-street Church began forty-six years ago, when the congregation worshiped in a room in Second-avenue, afterward in a hall in the Bowery near Second-street, and later in an edifice in Sixth-street, and now, by the blessing of God, they had been united and increased in strength and numbers, and a large congregation filled the church the anniversary of which they had assembled to celebrate.

Further remarks were made by Mr. Joseph Cutler and Mr. R. B. Atterbury, and several others, which referred to the incidents connected with the history of the church, and the fruits of the union of twenty-two years ago, and the Sunday-school and mission work.

The meeting closed with the benediction.

THE LATEST MURDER.

The Eighth Ward Mystery—Further Facts Discovered Yesterday.

So far the shocking murder in the Eighth Ward on Saturday morning, remains a mystery. It is easy to imagine how the crime might have been committed, but difficult to be certain how it was. The facts briefly are, that James Jackson, a negro kalsominer and herculean ruffian, lived at No. 57½ Sullivan-street, with three degraded white prostitutes, two of whom had been his former mistresses. The last mistress was a woman named Mary Jane Sullivan, alias McDermott. The other two women, Kate McCready, alias Jackson, and Lottie Armstrong, alias Thompson, were jealous of the woman Sullivan. Jackson and the woman Sullivan frequented the negro dance-saloon of William Servant, at No. 49 Thompson-street. On Friday night both were seen there, although, unfortunately, the attachés of the place did not observe at what time they left. At 2 o'clock on Saturday morning, a negro named Alfred Wilks, saw Jackson beating the woman Sullivan at the corner of Broome and Thompson streets. This is the only evidence, as yet found, that Jackson used any violence toward the woman Sullivan. At 7 o'clock, Ranford Livingston, bar-tender of the dance-saloon, entering the water-closet in the rear of the yard, saw the floor covered with blood, and found an open razor lying there. On the side of the razor was "old English razor" in gilt letters. At almost the same time the woman, Sullivan, was found dead in bed with a cut over her right eye. In a corner of the room Detective Muller found a broken hickory stick. It was evident she had been murdered by Jackson, who could not be found, but the blood in the water-closet in Thompson-street puzzled the police. There was so much of it that it was at once evident the blood had not come from the woman Sullivan, as she would in such an event have dropped dead in the closet from hemorrhage. The woman, Lottie Armstrong, said that Jackson had a razor with gilt letters on the handle, but would not swear whether the razor found in the closet was the same or not. From this was formed the theory that Jackson discovered another negro with the woman Sullivan, cut the other negro with the razor, thus accounting for the blood, followed the woman to Broome and Thompson streets, struck her there, and, on her staggering home, "finished" her, to use the police expression, at No. 57½ Thompson-street. Detective Muller learned that at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning Jackson was in an alley in West Thirty-third-street, from which he proceeded to the Dime Savings Bank and drew $200 which he had deposited there. From this it was presumed that he left the City. Last night it was thought he had gone to Philadelphia and the police of that city were notified. The sister of the woman Sullivan, also a degraded wretch, went into Jackson's rooms at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning and asked for deceased. The woman, Lottie Armstrong, said she was out. At that moment the dead body of the murdered woman lay in the bed covered with blankets. Capt. McCullogh and Detective Muller are confident that the women, Armstrong and McCready, who are now under arrest, know all about the murder. It is confidently expected by the police that Jackson will be captured before this evening.

OBITUARY.

W. Archdall O'Doherty.

Mr. William Archdall O'Doherty died on Saturday evening last, at his residence in this City. Mr. O'Doherty's name will be remembered by readers of THE TIMES in connection with many valuable and interesting disclosures, concerning the Erie and Great Western Railway Companies. Mr. O'Doherty had been suffering for some months past from Bright's disease of the kidneys, and a slow consumption, but it was only within the five or six weeks preceding his death that his condition was considered very serious.

Mr. O'Doherty was born in Londonderry, Ireland, in August, 1823, and was, therefore, nearly fifty years of age at his death. He had resided in this City for the past eight years, having lived previously for three or four years in Cleveland and other cities in the West. Ever since his arrival in this country, he had been prominently connected with the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad Company, and other similar interests. He leaves a wife and six children, three daughters and three sons. He resided with his family at No. 678 Broadway, in this City, during the Winter, but usually spent the warm season at his country-seat at the small village of Coran, Suffolk County, Long Island. The time at which the funeral services will be held had not been fixed upon yesterday, but will probably be announced to-day.

Exercises of the College of New York.

The examination of candidates for admission into the College of the City of New York will take place on June 2, and be continued two days. The result of the examination will be announced to the candidates on the following Wednesday. The examination of the College students will begin on Friday, June 6, and be continued to the 16th. The students will hear the results of their examination on the 20th of June; the introductory class on the 21st. The competitors for the Riggs prize will meet before the trustees in the President's room on Monday, June 2, and take the customary oath that their compositions are original, &c. The French prize translation will take place on Tuesday, June 17. The candidates for the Claflin medals will compete on Monday, June 16. The prize debate will take place on Friday, May 23, in Steinway Hall. The prize speaking will occur in the same place on Tuesday, June 24, and the commencement exercises will be held in the Academy of Music on Thursday, June 26. This will terminate the collegiate year, and the ensuing one will open on Wednesday, Sept. 17.

The Biter Bit.

Philip Michael, of No. 220 Second-avenue, purchased a house of John Lang, of No. 863 Third-avenue. As a part of the purchase-money, an assignment of his bank-book, representing $374, in the Bowery Savings Bank, was made to Lang by Michael. The latter was not, however, pleased with his bargain, and he determined, if possible, to prevent Lang getting the money from the bank. Accordingly, when Michael accompanied Lang, a few days ago, to identify him before the bank officials, he snatched the book as Lang was in the act of handing it to the cashier, put it in his pocket, and returned home. Justice Bixby issued a warrant for his arrest, and on Friday last it was served upon him. Since then, until yesterday morning, he was locked up. At the request of his counsel, who waived an examination at the Yorkville Police Court, the case was sent to the General Sessions, and bail taken for the prisoner's appearance at that court in the sum of $1,000.

A Daring Highway Robbery.

Henry Eagan, a tailor, residing at No. 120 Mulberry-street, was returning home from a party at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, when he was accosted by a man who, entering into conversation with him, suddenly dealt him a blow with some weapon on the right shoulder, stunning him, and then dragged him into the hallway of No. 113 Mulberry-street, and tore off one-half of his vest, in the pocket of which was his wallet, containing $40. Eagan gave the alarm, and Officer Fox, of the Fourteenth Precinct, arrested the thief, who proved to be Patrick McLaughlin, of No. 102 Mulberry-street. In McLaughlin's possession the officer found a heavy slung-shot and the money stolen from Eagan.

A Singular Suicide.

Somewhat an unusual suicide occurred in the City yesterday morning. A young man hung himself owing to the death of his step-mother. Louis Bossler, a shoemaker, eighteen years of age, residing at No. 508 East Eleventh-street, was very despondent since the death of his step-mother a week ago. Yesterday morning he seemed more sorrowful than usual, and went to his room apparently unnerved. He closed the door, and fastening a clothes-hook between the jamb and the body of the door, hung himself with his pocket-handkerchief.

A Politician's Fight.

Daniel Mullane, twenty-nine years old, of No. 16 Franklin-street, better known as "Denny" Mullane, a well-known Sixth Ward politician, and Dominick Linnan, of No. 47 Elm-street, quarreled, yesterday evening, in the lager-beer saloon No. 527 Pearl-street. Linnan struck Mullane on the head with a bung-starter, causing a severe wound. Linnan was arrested by Detective Dolan, of the Sixth Precinct, and Mullane, after his wounds had been dressed by Police Surgeon Dalrymple, was taken to his residence.

DURYEAS' GLEN COVE STARCH DEPOT HAS REMOVED
From Nos. 6 and 31 Park-Place,
To Nos. 29, 31, and 33 Park-Place,
Corner of Church-Street.
The superiority of their Products for Food, [illegible] particularly DURYEAS' IMPROVED CORN STARCH and DURYEAS' SATIN-GLOSS STARCH, has created so great a demand that the works at Glen Cove, Long Island, have been necessarily vastly enlarged, making the manufactory the LARGEST OF ITS KIND IN THE WORLD.
All orders addressed to WILLIAM DURYEA, General Agent, will receive prompt attention.

GREAT REDUCTION
In Prices of DIAMONDS.
The recent extraordinary changes in the European Markets, consequent upon the supply from the African Mines, have opened facilities for obtaining Diamonds of rare excellence, and at prices lower than at any period within the last ten years.
Promptly availing themselves of these advantages,
STARR & MARCUS,
NO. 22 JOHN-ST., Up-stairs,
have just added a choice collection to their large Stock, which is now
Unsurpassed in Quality and Variety, comprising many specially fine Gems in single stones and critically-matched pairs, all of which they offer at DECIDEDLY ATTRACTIVE PRICES.
N. B.—Purchasers may rely upon accurate discrimination being made in classifying stones in respect to color, cutting, and other peculiar characteristics.
